Senate Asks Beck To State His Position

WASHINGTON, March 15 (UP)—Senate investigators demanded Friday that teamster president Dave Beck make known immediately when he would supply the personal financial records they had requested.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D - Ark.) of the Senate Labor Racket investigating committee told reporters he would subpena the records if Beck did not surrender them voluntarily.

Beck told newsmen in Seattle that he had no objections to a subpena "if the committee thinks I'm not doing what I'm supposed to."

He said he wanted to talk to his attorney, Tracey Griffin, before submitting the records voluntarily. But he said Griffin was "gravely ill."

TELEGRAPHED INQUIRY

The committee telegraphed an inquiry to Beck after hearing Frank W. Brewster, West Coast boss of the teamsters, deny charges that he and his union were linked with vice and hoodlums in Portland, Ore.

"I have never conspired with anyone at any time or place to engage in any way or control in any manner any racket in the city of Portland or anywhere else," Brewster said. "Nor do I know of any official or employe of the teamsters who has."

The committee questioned Brewster closely about the disappearance of union records which he said were destroyed in a basement cleanup. It was the second instance of missing records reported to the committee.

PLANNED TO CLOSE

The group had planned Friday to close its three-week investigation of racketeers and teamster officials in Portland, with Brewster as the chief witness. However, counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he could not complete the questioning of Brewster in one day.

McClellan said the group would decide later what to do about further hearings. He said he had heard nothing directly from Beck since the Portland union president returned from a European trip Sunday and announced he would testify.

Man Escapes Death As Car Is Fired On

A 28-year-old West Monroe Negro narrowly escaped death last night when an unknown would-be assailant fired a pistol round into the windshield of his car as he was traveling east on DeSiard street.

Police said one round from "some type of pistol" splattered against the car windshield of Charles L. George, of 327 North Hearn Street, West Monroe.

GIVES ACCOUNT

George told police his wound-be assailant was a Negro but that was about the extent of his identification.

Officers said if the bullet had ranged through the windshield it would have struck George squarely in the chest.

The bullet plowed a two-inch furrow in the hood of the car and mushroomed as it hit the glass.

Officers, who said investigation in the case was not complete, stated that the man who fired the weapon was in a black, old type sedan, make not known.

The incident occurred in the 2300 block of DeSiard street about 25 feet east of the Ouachita Mattress Company, at 9:05 p.m.

George's wife and mother, Lucinda White, occupants of the Negro's vehicle were splattered with glass when the round smashed into the windshield.

EVIDENCE LACKING

Police questioned persons in the general vicinity of the shooting but gave no concrete evidence that anyone actually heard the shot.

One man though told officers that he heard three loud bangs as if someone was beating metal with a hammer at about the time the incident was reported.

The George Negro said he had not been involved in any trouble with anyone and gave no indication as to why the shot was fired at him.

SOUTH CENTRAL CASE

Airline Hearings In Monroe Asked

An invitation to the Civil Aeronautics Board to hold the South Central Case, which involves Monroe's airline service to Houston, here has been issued.

Louis D. Smith, Monroe attorney who represented the city and Chamber of Commerce at the recent Washington, D.C., session, extended the invitation.

HOPE EXPRESSED

It is hoped that Monroe will have a better chance to obtain direct service to Houston provided the hearing is held here, a spokesman said.

The Southeastern Case, which covers a great portion of Southern cities, was divided Tuesday in Washington by the CAB, placing Monroe into the South Central Case.

Boundaries of the South Central Case were set on the west by Memphis, Little Rock, Shreveport and Houston and on the east by Memphis, Jackson and New Or-

'Boon To City' Seen In Rate On Insurance

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs last night attributed Monroe's new Class 3 fire insurance rate to a "two-year battle that has finally been won" and called it a "boon to the city."

Gibbs gave credit to the Monroe Fire Department in commenting on the rate and called it the "most effective fire department in the South."

LISTS SAVING

Property owners will save $300,000 when the rates go into effect, Mayor W.L. (Jack) Howard said in making the announcement from New Orleans yesterday.

Monroe became the first municipality in the state to be placed in Class 3 by the Louisiana Fire Prevention Bureau.

Gibbs said Monroe's fire department had much to do with the rate.

Reductions for the commercial rates will amount to more than one-third, Howard said. Monroe was in Class 5.

Howard said the rate means that property owners now paying $100 annually for insurance will pay $70 when the rate goes into effect

"The tremendous savings this brings to the property owners of the City of Monroe cannot be over-emphasized," the mayor said.

"I am very thankful that we have been able to maintain the high level of efficiency in the fire department during the period of financial strain," he continued.

The new rate was also said to be a great savings to the downtown merchants.

Dave Silverstein, president of the Retail Merchant's Association, said the increased firemen's salaries also figured in the grant of the new rate.

Gibbs introduced the wage increase bill for firemen in 1956. The increase from $249.50 to $300 monthly (minimum) became effective August 1, 1956.

THINKS 'I'M GOING HOME'

Little Girl Faces Life In Hospital

WINNSBORO, March 15, (Special)—"I'm going to go home soon" said pretty Emma Mae Poland, 11, who is confined to a local clinic in Winnsboro, with a congenital defect of the heart.

What the little girl does not know is that she can't go home, unless her family finds some means of providing for a large tank of oxygen each day, so that the youngster can continue her hold on life.

LARGE FAMILY

Emma is the member of a large farm-family, with three brothers and two sisters, the oldest 17 and the youngest 2 years old.

Her father, Pete Poland, owns a 40-acre farm, and rents other land out, but continued illness on the part of any member of a family will gradually eat into funds, and now, Poland has completely used up all the reserve funds.

Emma who weighs only 46 pounds, had gradually reached the point where she must be confined under an oxygen tent all day, and this will be necessary if she is to go home.

She has been to the heart center at a New Orleans hospital several times, but physicians say that none of the new heart operations will help her.

BRIEF ATTENDANCE

Although Emma has only been to school for 10 days, when she first started at the age of 6, she has completed the third grade, with the instruction of Mrs. H. W. Eilerts, teacher for handicapped children. However, she has not been able to study since last October, with most of the time since then spent in hospitals.

The family is not receiving welfare assistance, and the Heart Fund includes surgical and medical benefits, but not in this type of case, so Mr. and Mrs. Poland are trying to figure out some way to bring their little girl home and provide the necessary oxygen for her each day. They have maintained a constant vigil with her while she is in the hospital, without any special nurse on the case.

Budget Boost Request For LTI Is Heard

BATON ROUGE, March 15 (Special)—Gov. Earl Long's budget study group today heard a request for a $105,594 increase in operating funds for Louisiana Training Institute at Monroe.

The new L.T.I. budget called for was $551,980.

A $2,683,348 increase in operating funds for the entire penal and correctional institutions systems in the state was requested by the various institutions.

THIRD WEEK

The institutions department asked $7,889,926 for 1957-58 as Long's legislative leaders ended their third week of hearings on the budget.

The opening of the new Louisiana correctional institute at DeQuincy set this summer, meant an extra $548,209 item.

L.T.I. superintendent A. L. Swanson pointed out that the Monroe institution has 312 boys with normal space for 225. He said two new cottages were needed.

Construction of the cottages would cost the legislature $500,000, Swanson said.

BIG BOOST ASKED

The State Colony and Training School, Pineville institution for the mentally retarded, asked for the largest boost, $920,495 for a total of $2,456,977.

Angola state penitentiary was second high, asking $780,152 hike for a $3,244,738 budget.

Other institutions' requests included:

Department of Institutions, $175,226, up $6,171; State Industrial School for Girls, $319,687, up $90,485, and the State Industrial School for Colored Youth, $593,009, up $169,242.

The only other request heard today came from the Division of Administration which asked for a budget of $237,590, a cut of $15,790 from the present appropriation.

ABBOTT EXECUTED

Governor Seconds Late In Reprieve

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., March 15 (UP)—Convicted kidnap-slayer Burton W. Abbott lost a "weird race with the executioner" Friday and died in San Quentin gas chamber at the same minute Gov. Goodwin J. Knight was trying vainly to delay his death.

A telephone call to the death chamber came after the pellets of cyanide had dropped into the vat of hydrochloric acid, releasing the deadly gas into the prison's apple-green death cell.

Knight was aboard the aircraft carrier Hancock off the California coast and was attempting to stay the execution to give Abbott's attorneys time to raise a final question in the courts.

TELEVISION PLEA

The governor had already delayed the execution once during the morning after a dramatic last minute telephone plea made to him by attorney George T. Davis over nationwide television.

Davis said the plea that failed had been held up for 20 minutes by the overseas operator while she told him repeatedly the line to the ship was busy. Knight, however, said he had kept two lines open at all times just for such a plea.

Abbott, a 29-year-old University of California accounting student, died calmly, insisting to the end that he was not responsible for the kidnaping and murder of Stephanie Bryan, 14-year-old Berkeley, Calif., schoolgirl in 1955.

GOT CALL THROUGH

Davis got his radiotelephone call through to Gov. Knight at 11:14 a.m. PST and explained that he wanted another hour to take another plea to federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who had already rejected pleas for a stay Friday morning and Thursday.

Knight said it was late since Abbot was scheduled to die at 11:15 but "we'll try to get through and hold it up if we can."

The governor then called his clemency secretary, Joseph G. Babich in Sacramento and told him to "hold it."

Babich called Warden Harley O. Teets at the prison gas chamber and asked:

"Did it start?"

The answer was "yes."

And Babich said, "you can't stop it then?"

The answer came, "it's too late."

Teets said that as far as he knew it was the first time a stay of execution came after the cyanide pellets had been dropped. Once this happens it is too late to stop the execution, he said.

Teets said Abbott came close to breaking down as he walked to the death chamber. His lips were quivering and he "was making an extreme effort to control himself and he succeeded, by a narrow margin," he said.

Abbott's body was willed to the university he attended.

Abbott, the father of a five-year-

GRAND JURY BAR

Registrar Seeks Protective Laws

BATON ROUGE, March 15 (AP)—A north Louisiana registrar of voters today suggested legislation forbidding removal of records from registrars' offices as an obstacle to federal grand jury probes.

Registrar J. H. Slawson of DeSoto Parish offered a resolution at the opening session of the Louisiana Registrars of Voters Assn. convention to declare all such records and forbid their removal.

The resolution was placed under advisement for action before the two-day convention ends tomorrow.

PROBES CITED

A federal grand jury for several months has been probing alleged denial of voting rights to Negroes in north Louisiana. Slawson recently was forced to produce his records before the grand jury.

Slawson said such a law could prevent grand juries from forcing registrars to move their records for grand jury inspection.

"If we don't do something," he predicted, "they'll be making us pack up our records and move them to California or New York or wherever the grand jury wants to meet."

DISPUTES LEGALITY

"But," he added, "I believe that no court can legally issue a blanket order for records. They must specify which records they want to see."

He said the attorney general's office would "consider the proposal and offer suggestions to make it stand up in court."

State voting machine custodian James McLemore stressed the need for change in election laws regarding "single shot" tabulations, which requires a voter to vote for the exact number of candidates to an office if the vote is to count for any of them.

McLemore said this requirement was unique to Louisiana.

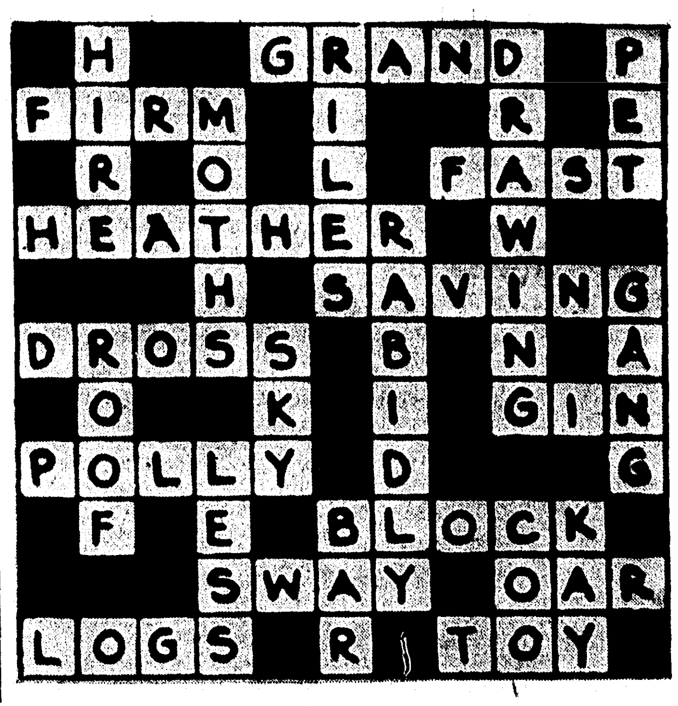
Crossword Entries Mount, But Jackpot Is Untouched



By BONANZA BILL

Participation in the Morning World's crossword puzzle competition mounts as the level of the jackpot increases, but none of the thousands of contestants this week was able to come up with the right combination of answers.

The $200 jackpot remained intact. Next week it will be fattened by an additional $25.

CLUES ACROSS:

2. GRAND is better than BRAND. GRAND emphasizes the splendid, possibly thrilling, qualities of the new motorcycle, and is thus better than BRAND, which merely emphasizes one thing - the newness of it.

6. "Equally attractive" makes FIRM a better answer than FILM. This refers to a FIRM offer in the business world. A star may receive two very attractive FILM offers, but they will never be EQUALLY attractive, since so many factors are involved - the part to be played; location; sal-

Explodes In Gulf; South Areas Hit

A red, flaming meteor that turned night into day in its path across Monroe last night at 10:01 p.m. flashed through the Southern skies from Florida westward to Texas and Oklahoma before it reportedly exploded in the Gulf south of Abbeville.

There were varying reports—none confirmed — that the fragments struck South Louisiana in a dozen places. It was reported as far north as Missouri.

There were no reported injuries or fires, South Louisiana sources said.

Dr. Butler Fraser Thompson, Tulane University assistant professor, said reports indicated that it was a large type meteor.

VERTICAL POSITION

An amateur meteorologist at Vicksburg said the meteor entered the earth's atmosphere in a vertical position and weighed approximately 600 tons.

The CAA at Selman Field said its first report came from Mobile and said "everybody seemed to think it fell in their back yard."

An early report that fragments fell in a golf course at Baton Rouge was found to be untrue by the investigating Baton Rouge Morning Advocate.

HEAR EXPLOSION

But there were persons reporting from Marsh Island in the Gulf south of Abbeville that they "definitely heard an explosion.

The Morning World was swamped with calls from eyewitnesses with the first coming from Mrs. Jack Herron at L.T.I.

"A red ball of flames leaving a trail in the sky just passed over my house," she said at 10:01 p.m.

"It was big as an automobile." Richard Fallen of Monroe said, and "it turned the Rainbow into day," clubowner W. H. Smith reported.

SPLINTERED

It splintered into bits across South Louisiana reportedly from Plaquemine to Lake Charles, hitting at Walker, Gonzales, Plaquemine, near New Roads, Opelousas, Lafayette, Jackson, Ervinville and Marsh Island.

From Shreveport, La: "It lit the city as bright as day."

New Orleans: "It lasted two

Dog Poisoners Pose Threat To W. M. Children

West Monroe Chief of Police Jeff W. Caldwell served notice on dog poisoners yesterday afternoon, warning that severe action would be taken against any persons found guilty of such an offense.

The chief's action came after it was learned that a dog was poisoned with strychnine in the general vicinity of 2500 North Eight street, West Monroe.

NOT THE FIRST

Chief Caldwell said "this is not the first time such an incident has happened in this area and our department is conducting an investigation into the matter."

Dog poisonings have been reported in the North Eighth and North Ninth streets vicinities each year for a number of years back, the chief added.

He pointed out that the strychnine which the latest dog came in contact with, was stuffed into a weiner. He said he got an official report from the veterinarian yesterday.

GREAT DANGER

The police chief said the individual who put out the poisoned weiner had no idea of the danger being created.

Small children, he stated, are not past susceptability of picking up small objects like this and putting them into their mouths.

He said persons convicted under statutes that cover dog poisoning could possibly be given a long jail sentence in addition to a fine.

TELEVISION PLEA

The governor had already delayed the execution once during the morning after a dramatic last minute telephone plea made to him by attorney George T. Davis over nationwide television.

Davis said the plea that failed had been held up for 20 minutes by the overseas operator while she told him repeatedly the line to the ship was busy. Knight, however, said he had kept two lines open at all times just for such a plea.

Abbott, a 28-year-old University of California accounting student, died calmly, insisting to the end that he was not responsible for the kidnaping and murder of Stephanie Bryan, 14-year-old Berkeley, Calif., schoolgirl in 1955.

GOT CALL THROUGH

Davis got his radiotelephone call through to Gov. Knight at 11:14 a. m. PST and explained that he wanted another hour to take another plea to federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who had already rejected pleas for a stay Friday morning and Thursday.

Knight said it was late since Abbot was scheduled to die at 11:15 but "we'll try to get through and hold it up if we can."

The governor then called his clemency secretary, Joseph G. Babich in Sacramento and told him to "hold it."

Babich called Warden Harley O. Teets at the prison gas chamber and asked:

"Did it start?"

The answer was "yes."

And Babich said, "you can't stop it then?"

The answer came, "it's too late."

Teets said that as far as he knew it was the first time a stay of execution came after the cyanide pellets had been dropped. Once this happens it is too late to stop the execution, he said.

Teets said Abbott came close to breaking down as he walked to the death chamber. His lips were quivering and he "was making an extreme effort to control himself and he succeeded, by a narrow margin," he said.

Abbott's body was willed to the university he attended.

GRAND JURY BAR

Registrar Seeks Protective Laws

BATON ROUGE, March 15 (AP)—A north Louisiana registrar of voters today suggested legislation forbidding removal of records from registrars' offices as an obstacle to federal grand jury probes.

Registrar J. H. Slawson of DeSoto Parish offered a resolution at the opening session of the Louisiana Registrars of Voters Assn. convention to declare all such records and forbid their removal.

The resolution was placed under advisement for action before the two-day convention ends tomorrow.

PROBES CITED

A federal grand jury for several months has been probing alleged denial of voting rights to Negroes in north Louisiana. Slawson recently was forced to produce his records before the grand jury.

Slawson said such a law could prevent grand juries from forcing registrars to move their records for grand jury inspection.

"If we don't do something," he predicted, "they'll be making us pack up our records and move them to California or New York or wherever the grand jury wants to meet."

DISPUTES LEGALITY

"But," he added, "I believe that no court can legally issue a blanket order for records. They must specify which records they want to see."

He said the attorney general's office would "consider the proposal and offer suggestions to make it stand up in court."

State voting machine custodian James McLemore stressed the need for change in election laws regarding "single shot" tabulations, which requires a voter to vote for the exact number of candidates to an office if the vote is to count for any of them.

McLemore said this requirement was unique to Louisiana.

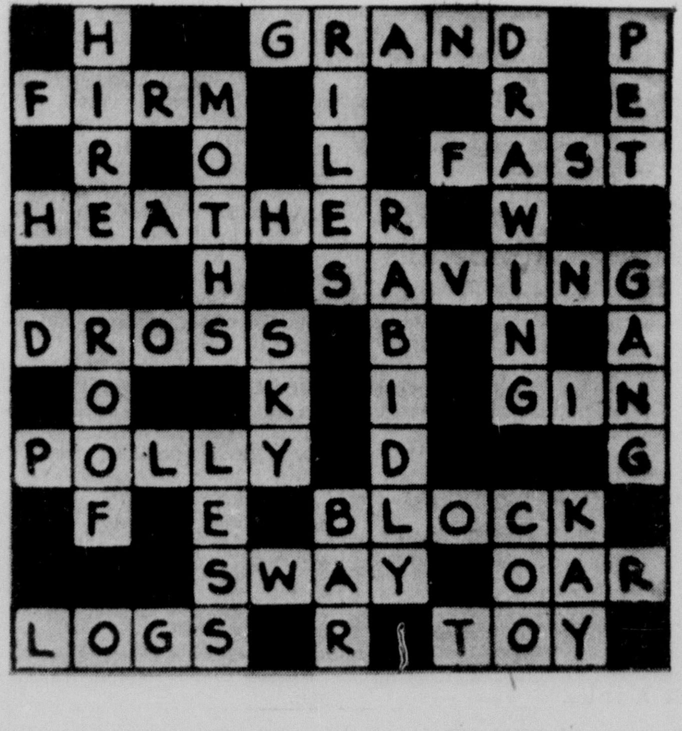
Crossword Entries Mount, But Jackpot Is Untouched



By BONANZA BILL

Participation in the Morning World's crossword puzzle competition mounts as the level of the jackpot increases, but none of the thousands of contestants this week was able to come up with the right combination of answers.

The $200 jackpot remained intact. Next week it will be fattened by an additional $25.

CLUES ACROSS:

2. GRAND is better than BRAND. GRAND emphasizes the splendid, possibly thrilling, qualities of the new motorcycle, and is thus better than BRAND, which merely emphasizes one thing - the newness of it.

6. "Equally attractive" makes FIRM a better answer than FILM. This refers to a FIRM offer in the business world. A star may receive two very attractive FILM offers, but they will never be EQUALLY attractive, since so many factors are involved - the part to be played; location; sal-

Dog Poisoners Pose Threat To W. M. Children

West Monroe Chief of Police Jeff W. Caldwell served notice on dog poisoners yesterday afternoon, warning that severe action would be taken against any persons found guilty of such an offense.

The chief's action came after it was learned that a dog was poisoned with strychnine in the general vicinity of 2500 North Eight street, West Monroe.

NOT THE FIRST

Chief Caldwell said "this is not the first time such an incident has happened in this area and our department is conducting an investigation into the matter."

Dog poisonings have been reported in the North Eighth and North Ninth streets vicinities each year for a number of years back, the chief added.

He pointed out that the strychnine which the latest dog came in contact with, was stuffed into a weiner. He said he got an official report from the veterinarian yesterday.

GREAT DANGER

The police chief said the individual who put out the poisoned weiner had no idea of the danger being creating.

Small children, he stated, are not past susceptability of picking up small objects like this and putting them into their mouths.

He said persons convicted under statutes that cover dog poisoning could possibly be given a long jail sentence in addition to a fine.

SPECIAL PROJECT

Local Teachers Will Be Honored

Plans to name the outstanding city and parish teacher of the year were launched yesterday by a sub-committee of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Some 28 outstanding teachers will be named annually with the two top teachers — one each from the city and parish school systems — to be chosen from that group.

A new project designed to assist the teaching profession, it will choose one outstanding teacher from each school in the city and parish.

The selection of the outstanding teachers is hoped to bring the teaching profession and the teacher's work more before the public.

In addition, Williams said the program is planned to encourage teachers in participating in civic work and also to attract more persons to the teaching profession.

It is hoped a Teacher Recognition Day can be acclaimed in connection with the awarding of the selections.

Regulations for the selections will be planned by a criteria committee, which will be announced in several days.

Paul Goldman is serving as chairman of the sub-committee with W. W. Ward, superintendent of the parish schools, Van Odom, city superintendent, and city board member James H. Trousdale.

The date of the first selection will be chosen by the criteria committee.

GRAND JURY

Secretary To Hoffa Gives Testimony

WASHINGTON, March 15 (UP) —Mrs. Dorothy Dobrescu, secretary to teamster leader James R. Hoffa, testified before a federal grand jury Friday about bribery charges against her boss.

The auburn-haired secretary, who is under $5,000 bond as a material witness, told reporters she "answered everything" she was asked during her 30-minute appearance.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Labor Rackets committee, also testified briefly during the noon recess in the committee hearings. Hoffa is accused of trying to bribe a lawyer to pass him information from the committee's confidential files.

CONVENED THURSDAY

The Jury, which convened Thursday, was expected to wind up its investigation promptly. FBI agents and John Cye Cheasty, central figure in the alleged bribery scheme.

Mrs. Dobrescu, 36, returned to Detroit. Hoffa, who is free on $25,000 bail, also flew back to Detroit Friday.

Lawrence A. Burns Mrs. Dobrescu's attorney, told reporters "she answered anything she was asked." The secretary agreed.

ARRESTED HOFFA

The FBI arrested Hoffa, five-foot-five "strong man" of the huge union, Wednesday night on charges he offered Cheasty $18,000 to filch secrets from the committee's confidential files.

After tipping off the committee, Ceasty, a New York attorney and former secret service investigator, allegedly served as a "double agent" on the case. He was said to have obtained a job on the committee staff at Hoffa's urging, and to have slipped documents to Hoffa, some of which allegedly were found on him when he was arrested.

The government sought indictments against Hoffa and Hyman I. Fischbach, Miami, Fla., attorney who was named as the "contact" in the case.

Directory Survey To Open Here

Work on conducting a Twin Cities-wide survey for the new city directory will start Wednesday, it was learned yesterday.

Approximately 10 or 12 local persons will be hired to assist in the house-to-house campaign in both Monroe and West Monroe.

James O. Ruff, sales manager of R. L. Polk Co., of Richmond, Va. and two other salesmen have started soliciting advertising for the new directory.

Sales will be completed by May 1 and it is hoped the book will be in the hands of local persons by September.

The directory will include several thousand additional local names due to the expansion of Monroe and the incorporate limits of West Monroe.

WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST—Precipitation is forecast Saturday for the inter-mountain region and southern California, upper Michigan, and parts of the lower Lakes region. Drizzle will be reported from Maine and showers from southern Florida. It will be colder in middle Atlantic states and southern Rockies and warmer in northern and central Plains. Only minor variations are expected elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Teachers End Convention In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., March 15 (AP)—Thousands of Mississippi teachers brought their 71st annual meeting to a close tonight on an entertainment note—a historical pageant after a tea at the governor's mansion.

All members of the Mississippi Education Assn. were invited to the tea in the governor's mansion from 4 to 6 p.m.

Five colleges, two elementary schools and eight high schools took part in the historical pageant staged at Murrah High School, which traced development of education from frontierdays.

One of the final speakers was Dr. Yewell Thompson, a Copiah County native and Millsaps graduate, who is chairman of the University of Alabama's department of elementary education.

Of out-going MEA president Miss Margaret L. Hutchison's statement that education is on the threshold of great things, Thompson said: "We've been at the threshold for a long time and I am gratified to note that we haven't backed up from it."

Mrs. Lina Sartor of Pachuta, newly elected MEA vice president, presided at the meeting of classroom teachers, of which she is out-going president.

New officers of that group, elected last Friday but installed today, included Mrs. T. H. Godbold of Oxford, president; Mrs. Mary Moberly of Laurel, vice president, Hugh Brown of Pontotoc, secretary; and Miss Ruth Tucker of Jackson, treasurer.

The future teacher organization, whose name will be changed after April to the Student Education Assn., elected Larry Carmichiel of State College president, Ann Bradley of the University of Mississippi vice president, and Inez Umberger of Mississippi State College for Women secretary-treasurer.

Drunk Driving Charges Filed Against Officer

ENID, Okla., March 15 (UP)—Col. Chester Price Gilger, 49, commanding officer of Vance Air Force Base here, has been ordered to appear in municipal court March 28 on drunk driving charges, it was learned Friday.

Gilger was charged Tuesday, but police reports on the incident listed him merely as Price Gilger and his full identity was not made public at the time.

Gilger was not available for comment here Friday. Officials said he had gone to Waco, Tex., for a conference at the Air Force flight training headquarters there.

Police records showed Gilger is free on bonds totaling $60 on three charges — public drunkenness, drunk driving and reckless driving.

Hearing originally was set for March 18 before municipal Judge Robert Gregory but was postponed until March 28.

Records showed he was arrested by city patrolmen Lloyd Chase and Charles Dunaway at 3:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Gilger was a combat flier in World War II and held post-war commands at Air Force bases at Midland and Perrin, Tex., and was later deputy commander of the 20th Air Force.

Group Named To Work With Scouts

LAKE PROVIDENCE, March 15 (Special) — W. B. Ragland, Jr., president of the Lake Providence Rotary Club, has named a committee to work with Boy Scouts.

STUDY REPORT

Recommend Hike In Railroad Wage

WASHINGTON, March 15 (UP) —A presidential fact-finding board Friday recommended wage increases of 26½ cents an hour, plus cost-of-living raises for 160,000 railroad workers involved in a year-old dispute.

The union had asked for a general increase of $3 a day and eight paid holidays. That added up to 37½ cents an hour. The board's proposal follows a wage pattern acceptable heretofore to the carriers.

The board urged acceptance of its findings which, it said, were in line with President Eisenhower's appeal to labor and industry to cooperate in slowing down the inflationary wage-price spiral.

EMPLOYES AFFECTED

Mr. Eisenhower set up the board last December to investigate differences between the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and 175 class one railroads. Employes affected chiefly were road and yard brakemen, conductors, and yardmasters.

In its report to the President the board said it hoped that neither the railroads nor the union would "view our recommendations in terms of victory or defeat but rather as a basic approach to a just settlement."

The board proposed an increase of 12½ cents an hour retroactive to Nov. 1, 1956; also 7 cents, effective Nov. 1, 1957, and 7 cents on Nov. 1, 1958.

ADJUSTMENTS MADE

Cost-of-living adjustments would be made starting May 1, 1957, and each six months thereafter on the basis of changes in the labor department's consumer price index. The board proposed adjustments of one cent an hour, up or down, for each half-point change in the index.

The railway labor act provides for a 30-day strike moratorium after the board submits its findings. After that the union is free if no settlement has been reached.

Board members were Nathan Cayton, retired chief judge of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals; Francis J. Robertson, Washington attorney, and A. Langley Coffey, Sand Springs, Okla., one-time war labor board official.

Trial Of Three Charged With Gambling Set

Rubin Johnson, received a two-year-prison sentence on theft charges.

William Stewart, also charged with theft, was sentenced to six months in jail.

Four persons were sentenced or either fined on drunk driving charges. They were: Milton Washington Buie, $400 and costs, and 125 days in jail; Willie Ross, $300 and costs; C. D. Walker, $300 and costs; and Armond L. Wininger, $300 costs. Wininger, in addition, was fined $25 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

John A. McDonald was fined $100 for speeding and $25 and costs for reckless operation of a vehicle.

Dorothy Young, was fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace.

Charles Williams, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license, was fined $25 and costs.

John Thomas, was fined $25 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Joseph T. Marchbanks, was sentenced to 10 days for disturbing the peace.

Norris Ray, was fined $25 and costs on charges of disturbing the peace.

Iader Sillers and Billy J. Smith, charged with speeding, were each fined $25 and costs.

Negro Asks To Be Relieved Of Alcorn Duties

ALCORN, Miss., March 15 (AP)—Prof. Clennon King "has asked to be relieved for a while" of his teaching duties at Alcorn A&M College, president J. D. Boyd said today.

The history professor, whose writings set off a student boycott which almost closed the state-owned Negro college last week, will be given an opportunity "to rest," Boyd said.

"But he's still a member of the faculty and subject to recall when he is needed," added Boyd, successor to the ousted Dr. J. R. Otis as A&M president.

Boyd also said the school, most of whose 561 students signed "final withdrawal" slips last week in protest to King's pro-segregation writings, is "about back to normal." He had said yesterday about 300 of the students had returned to classes.

Dr. E. R. Jobe, executive secretary of the all-white State College Board, said in Jackson he had not been advised of King's request for temporary relief from duties.

"I also know that Prof. King has said he would like to visit his parents in Albany, Ga., for some rest and relaxation," said Dr. Jobe. "That doesn't require a formal release, of course, and . . . he's still on call."

Polio Shot Drive Opens In Parish

An intensive campaign is now underway to inoculate all Ouachita parish residents between the age of six months and 40 years, before the June 30 deadline, when the free government-sponsored Salk vaccine program will halt.

Ed Foreman, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis representative, is urging that all persons in the age group when polio is most prevalent begin the inoculation program immediately, so that they may receive two of the three necessary shots for immunization.

The third, or booster, shot comes seven months after the first, and the second inoculation is one month after the first, so eligible persons who begin now will be able to get only two of the vaccinations during the government program, Foreman explained.

Salk anti-polio vaccine will still be available after June 30, but will no longer be supplied free to the parish health unit.

According to Roy Q. Cole, Sr., new chairman, members of the Ouachita parish Chapter of the National Foundation have slated a meeting for Wednesday night, to outline plans for the campign. They also will meet with officials of the school systems, on the possibility of holding special clinics in each school, since only a few of the 18,000 school-age children in the parish have received inoculations.

The campaign will be aimed at three groups, those from six months to 19 years; 19 through 39 who are unable to pay; and 19-39 years, who can pay for the inoculations.

The parish chapter has elected new officers for the year, and they will be in charge of the all-out campaign. In addition to President Cole, 1957 officers are: Louis Whitifild, vice-chairman; Mrs. Vicci Willbanks, secretary; and Virgil Crawford, treasurer. New members of the executive board are T. O. Brancroft, Jr., Mrs. Richard Pierce, Mrs. Abe Dreyer, Pete Dowd, Mrs. Willbanks, and Louis Whitfield.

AEC Reactor Destroyed In Runaway Action

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., March 15 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission, in a belated announcement, disclosed today that an atomic device used in weapons research blew apart Feb. 12.

A spokesman said the blast, having the same explosive force as a "few grams" of high explosive, was the first of that strength in a large number of similar experiments in the Los Alamos scientific laboratory.

Charles White Faces Trials Of Navy Life

SAN DIEGO, March 15 (Special) —When Charles Edward White, 17, 610 Catalpa street, got to the San Diego Naval Training Center this week he went through a routine familiar to many Navy veterans.

Young White showed the effects of his first week in the Navy. All of his new Navy clothes bagged or sagged and his hair was gone.

On the morning after his arrival he was given a thorough medical examination followed in the afternoon by a lecture and movie on the Uniform Code of Military Justice, after which a chaplain's lecture completed his first day of processing.

The second day White sat through five hours of tests. Results of these tests, combined later with an interview by a trained classification interviewer, will enable the Navy to select the appropriate career pattern for White to follow while serving with the Navy.

2 Burglaries, Theft Cleared, Officers Say

The Ouachita parish sheriff department said two separate burglaries and a theft were cleared yesterday with the arrest of three youths-two of which were apprehended in New Mexico.

Two of the boys involved were juveniles and the other a 17-year-old boy.

He and a 14-year-old companion were arrested yesterday in Carlsbad, New Mexico, for the $96 burglary of Cannon's General Store, 3014 Cypress street, West Monroe on the night of March 13.

Both West Monroe officers and sheriff deputies have been working on the case. The youths admitted entering the store and officers in Carlsbad said some of the merchandise taken from the establishment was recovered.

About $25 in cash was taken from the store. Approximately $17 was recovered ew Mexico officers told sheriff authorities.

The youths will be returned here and turned over to juvenile authorities, sheriff officials said yesterday afternoon.

The third youth, 16-year-old, was taken into custody on the Ouachita river yesterday afternoon by deputies for burglary of a houseboat and the theft of motor and boat. He admitted both charges.

Deputies recovered a radio, hunting knife, small ice-box, shotgun shells, and other items which were said to have been taken from a houseboat moored at the point where Tupaw Bayou empties into the Ouachita river.

The youth was in a stolen boat upon apprehension.

Sheriff authorities said a full report would be made and the youth would be released to juvenile authorities for further disposition.

WASHINGTON, March 15 (UP) —A presidential fact - finding board Friday recommended wage increases of 26½ cents an hour, plus cost-of-living raises for 160,000 railroad workers involved in a year-old dispute.

The union had asked for a general increase of $3 a day and eight paid holidays. That added up to 37½ cents an hour. The board's proposal follows a wage pattern acceptable heretofore to the carriers.

The board urged acceptance of its findings which, it said, were in line with President Eisenhower's appeal to labor and industry to cooperate in slowing down the inflationary wage-price spiral.

EMPLOYES AFFECTED

Mr. Eisenhower set up the board last December to investigate differences between the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and 175 class one railroads. Employes affected chiefly were road and yard brakemen, conductors, and yardmasters.

In its report to the President the board said it hoped that neither the railroads nor the union would "view our recommendations in terms of victory or defeat but rather as a basic approach to a just settlement."

The board proposed an increase of 12½ cents an hour retroactive to Nov. 1, 1956; also 7 cents, effective Nov. 1, 1957, and 7 cents on Nov. 1, 1958.

ADJUSTMENTS MADE

Cost-of-living adjustments would be made starting May 1, 1957, and each six months thereafter on the basis of changes in the labor department's consumer price index. The board proposed adjustments of one cent an hour, up or down, for each half-point change in the index.

The railway labor act provides for a 30-day strike moratorium after the board submits its findings. After that the union is free if no settlement has been reached.

Board members were Nathan Cayton, retired chief judge of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals; Francis J. Robertson, Washington attorney, and A. Langley Coffey, Sand Springs, Okla., one-time war labor board official.

Trial Of Three Charged With Gambling Set

Negro Asks To Be Relieved Of Alcorn Duties

ALCORN, Miss., March 15 (AP)—Prof. Clennon King "has asked to be relieved for a while" of his teaching duties at Alcorn A&M College, president J. D. Boyd said today.

The history professor, whose writings set off a student boycott which almost closed the state-owned Negro college last week, will be given an opportunity "to rest," Boyd said.

"But he's still a member of the faculty and subject to recall when he is needed," added Boyd, successor to the ousted Dr. J. R. Otis as A&M president.

Boyd also said the school, most of whose 561 students signed "final withdrawal" slips last week in protest to King's pro-segregation writings, is "about back to normal." He had said yesterday about 300 of the students had returned to classes.

Dr. E. R. Jobe, executive secretary of the all-white State College Board, said in Jackson he had not been advised of King's request for temporary relief from duties.

"I also know that Prof. King has said he would like to visit his parents in Albany, Ga., for some rest and relaxation," said Dr. Jobe. "That doesn't require a formal release, of course, and . . . he's still on call."

Polio Shot Drive Opens In Parish

An intensive campaign is now underway to inoculate all Ouachita parish residents between the age of six months and 40 years, before the June 30 deadline, when the free government - sponsored Salk vaccine program will halt.

Ed Foreman, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis representative, is urging that all persons in the age group when polio is most prevalent begin the inoculation program immediately, so that they may receive two of the three necessary shots for immunization.

The third, or booster, shot comes seven months after the first, and the second inoculation is one month after the first, so eligible persons who begin now will be able to get only two of the vaccinations during the government program, Foreman explained.

Salk anti-polio vaccine will still be available after June 30, but will no longer be supplied free to the parish health unit.

According to Roy Q. Cole, Sr., new chairman, members of the Ouachita parish Chapter of the National Foundation have slated a meeting for Wednesday night, to outline plans for the campign. They also will meet with officials of the school systems, on the possibility of holding special clinics in each school, since only a few of the 18,000 school-age children in the parish have received inoculations.

The campaign will be aimed at three groups, those from six months to 19 years; 19 through 39 who are unable to pay; and 19-39 years, who can pay for the inoculations.

The parish chapter has elected new officers for the year, and they will be in charge of the all-out campaign. In addition to President Cole, 1957 officers are: Louis Whitifild, vice-chairman; Mrs. Vicci Willbanks, secretary; and Virgil Crawford, treasurer. New members of the executive board are T. O. Brancroft, Jr., Mrs. Richard Pierce, Mrs. Abe Dreyer, Pete Dowd, Mrs. Willbanks, and Louis Whitfield.

AEC Reactor Destroyed In Runaway Action

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., March 15 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission, in a belated announcement, disclosed today that an atomic device used in weapons research blew apart Feb. 12.

A spokesman said the blast, having the same explosive force as a "few grams" of high explosive, was the first of that strength in a large number of similar experiments in the Los Alamos scientific laboratory.

Charles White Faces Trials Of Navy Life

SAN DIEGO, March 15 (Special) —When Charles Edward White, 17, 610 Catalpa street, got to the San Diego Naval Training Center this week he went through a routine familiar to many Navy veterans.

Young White showed the effects of his first week in the Navy. All of his new Navy clothes bagged or sagged and his hair was gone.

The Monroe recruit is a member of the Navy's Rock and Roll Company. On his arrival at the training center he was given dental X-rays and issued sleeping material, towels, seabag, and a watch cap.

On the morning after his arrival he was given a thorough medical examination followed in the afternoon by a lecture and movie on the Uniform Code of Military Justice, after which a chaplain's lecture completed his first day of processing.

The second day White sat through five hours of tests. Results of these tests, combined later with an interview by a trained classification interviewer, will enable the Navy to select the appropriate career pattern for White to follow while serving with the Navy.

2 Burglaries, Theft Cleared, Officers Say

The Ouachita parish sheriff department said two separate burglaries and a theft were cleared yesterday with the arrest of three youths-two of which were apprehended in New Mexico.

Two of the boys involved were juveniles and the other a 17-year-old boy.

He and a 14-year-old companion were arrested yesterday in Carlsbad, New Mexico, for the $96 burglary of Cannon's General Store, 3014 Cypress street, West Monroe on the night of March 13.

Both West Monroe officers and sheriff deputies have been working on the case. The youths admitted entering the store and officers in Carlsbad said some of the merchandise taken from the establishment was recovered.

About $25 in cash was taken from the store. Approximately $17 was recovered ew Mexico officers told sheriff authorities.

The youths will be returned here and turned over to juvenile authorities, sheriff officials said yesterday afternoon.

The third youth, 16-year-old, was taken into custody on the Ouachita river yesterday afternoon by deputies for burglary of a houseboat and the theft of motor and boat. He admitted both charges.

Deputies recovered a radio, hunting knife, small ice-box, shotgun shells, and other items which were said to have been taken from a houseboat moored at the point where Tupaw Bayou empties into the Ouachita river.

The youth was in a stolen boat upon apprehension.

Sheriff authorities said a full report would be made and the youth would be released to juvenile authorities for further disposition.

Israeli Foreign Minister On Way To United States

TEL AVIV, Israel, March 15 (AP)—Mrs. Golda Meir, Israeli foreign minister, is flying to the United States tonight for talks on Egypt's resumption of authority in the disputed Gaza Strip.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Mrs. Meir, in talks with U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, would make a last-ditch diplomatic effort to solve a serious situation "before the government considers other means."

As she boarded the plane, Mrs. Meir told reporters:

"What is happening in the Gaza Strip is extremely disturbing to our government and it was decided that before the government takes any decision it would be preferable that we do everything we can diplomatically in order to find a positive solution.

"My main purpose is to contact the American government.

"What is happening in Gaza is exactly the opposite of what was supposed to happen," she added.

Maj. Gen. Hassan Abdel Latif of Egypt, at the head of a mission of 72 officials—including 50 military police and 10 officers—assumed administrative authority over the area yesterday.

Egyptian press reports said he was issuing orders to Gaza police and had appointed local governors for the three chief districts of the area.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said this was the first step in Egyptian President Nasser's plan "to transform the Gaza area once again into a base for fedayeen warfare against Israel."

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion warned in a speech to the Knesset this week that Israel reserved "freedom of action" if the Egyptians returned to Gaza.

Israel seized the area in her swift invasion of Egypt last October and November and yielded it last week after the United States and other U.N. members gave general endorsement to her "assumption" that the U.N. would administer the area until there is a final settlement of its status.

Actress Divorced By Hubby

DALLAS, March 15 (AP) — Judge W. L. Jack Thornton granted Paul J. Mansfield a divorce from actress Jayne Mansfield today. The actress was not in court.

In answer to a question by the judge, the former military police lieutenant who served in Korea said he would not take his wife back if given the opportunity.

"No man wants to be a second choice," Mansfield said. "If she should come back, I would be a second choice to her career."

Then Judge Thornton said, "Mrs. Mansfield is a very attractive woman."

To which Mansfield replied with an emphatic, "Yes, sir." Mansfield said he had respect and admiration for his former wife.

But in his petition for divorce, which was filed by attorney Wallen Melton, he stated "she has gone into the motion picture business, causing neglect and bringing about words and deeds leading to an intolerable situation."

Then Judge Thornton said, "Mrs. Mansfield is a very attractive woman."

To which Mansfield replied with an emphatic, "Yes, sir." Mansfield said he had respect and admiration for his former wife.

But in his petition for divorce, which was filed by attorney Wallen Melton, he stated "she has gone into the motion picture business, causing neglect and bringing about words and deeds leading to an intolerable situation."

Louisiana Lags In Wiping Out Polio

Louisiana is one of the states which have taken least advantage of the opportunity to wipe out polio and to put it on the list of conquered diseases.

Since the people of this state have not heeded as they should the advice of physicians, they may be interested to know what one of the leading American insurance companies has to say about the decrease in polio deaths since the Salk vaccine was put into use. In a statement just issued, this company said:

"In 1956 the poliomyelitis death rate among this company's industrial policyholders dropped to half that of 1955, or to only .3 per 100,000. This reduction in mortality paralleled the drop in number of cases of the disease reported in the general population in the United States. In 1956 there were 15,400 such cases reported in the country, a 47 per cent decrease from the 29,270 cases in 1956. The statisticians credit the immunization program for part of this decrease."

Dr. Philip H. Jones of New Orleans, chairman of the Louisiana Salk vaccine committee, pointed out recently that Louisiana had the third highest polio rate in the United States in 1956.

Records of the Louisiana state health department indicate that less than half the persons between one and 20 years of age, and an even smaller percentage of adults, have been vaccinated. This situation is especially deplorable because the Salk vaccine is now produced in sufficient quantity to immunize every man, woman and child in the United States between the ages of one and 40, in addition to pregnant women of all ages.

Normally the Louisiana polio season begins with the first warm weather. It is likely, however, that the season will start earlier this year than usual because of the mild winter.

For these reasons, Louisiana residents up to the age of 40 and all expectant mothers should take the vaccine at the earliest possible moment.

Plans launched here by the Ouachita parish chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are expected to get polio vaccination started in a big way. Vaccination of every person between six months and 40 years of age is the objective.

Sacred Cows Hurt Economy's Chances

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey repeats that big cuts in the federal budget are possible, though he will not say where. Budget Director Percival Brundage sights only small savings but urges government agencies to look for them.

Republicans in Congress want to lop off about $6 billion but no one is clear how to do it. Senator Byrd sets his sights for reduction of $5 billion, and is more explicit.

Executive departments and agencies have already told the appropriations subcommittees not to look at them—they're already operating on a shoestring. When one Congressman suggested that perhaps some home district public works might be dispensed with, sensitive log-rollers cried, "Foul!"

An onlooker gets the impression that thrift in Washington is largely the other fellow's virtue. Budget trimmers seem less interested in eliminating extravagance than in making sure the economy ax doesn't hit any political sacred cow.

No department head ever tells Congress his operation is too expensive. Members of Congress can seldom go behind routine testimony of the department itself to examine whether things are being done that do not need doing t costs out of proportion to value received.

Solons Weakening On Trade Stamps Issue

A majority of the Tennessee legislature's lower house looks favorably upon a bill which the upper house has already passed by a big majority, aimed at taxing trading stamps out of the state. License fees are to be doubled. Retail outlets using the stamps are to pay a 2 per cent sales tax on their gross receipts.

The Tennessee legislators undoubtedly were convinced they were acting for good and sufficient reasons. They regard the premium idea as having been carried too far.

But the 53 members of Tennessee's lower house who expressed intentions of voting the bill into law are squirming. An organized protest of housewives has been turned loose on them.

Charging that the anti-trading stamp bill sailed through the Senate without a public hearing, and that the same thing is about to happen in the House, the women bombarded the legislature with telegrams, telephone calls and letters. They flocked to the law-making halls carrying banners.

Little Boy Who Never Learns

BASCOM TIMMONS REPORTS

Much-Maligned Taft-Hartley Act Is Standing Up Well After 10 Years

All factors considered, the much maligned Taft-Hartley act has stood the test of time pretty well. There are still those around who remember when the law was enacted in 1947, by a Republican Congress over the veto of President Harry S. Truman. They recall how it was lambasted by labor chiefs as "the slave labor law." A younger generation remembers that it has been a political whipping boy in every subsequent election, with candidates on both sides spouting pledges for its repeal, which were never fulfilled after the votes were counted.

Now, nearing its tenth anniversary, Taft-Hartley not only is still on the books, but has been subjected to no major change since its enactment. But President Eisenhower, mindful of the Republican wooing of the labor vote, which figured so heavily in giving Democrats control of Congress in 1956, will soon ask for several amendments.

That, however, is not new. The President recommended 15 separate changes in Taft-Hartley in 1954. They reached their high water mark when a bill containing some of them was considered by the Senate and sent back to committee. In the two subsequent sessions he has repeated his requests.

The truth seems to be, though organized labor leaders will not admit it publicly, that they have learned to live with the Taft-Hartley act, if not to like it. So far this year, there has been no sign of any drive by organized labor for revision of the law (the big unions long ago gave up hope of repealing it).

Labor's big fight now is spread over the country, directed against the state "right to work" laws, which have taken on new life with the enactment of such a law in Indiana, outlawing the union shop. In the Hoosier state, where unions are powerful politically, legislators from farm and industrial districts combined to force the bill through both houses.

The Eisenhower proposals for amendment of the Taft-Hartley act do not touch section 14 (B) which permits state laws forbidding union shop contracts in languages so clear that the Supreme Court has not invoked its new doctrine overriding states rights in dealing with legal attacks on such laws. This is the section which the unions particularly dislike, since it leaves the way open for state laws banning all forms of labor - management agreements involving compulsory union contracts.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who will direct for the administration whatever effort is made to amend the law at this session, is expected to propose a change in the so called "union busting" section, which makes employees on strike ineligible to vote on a union to represent them in a National Labor Relations Board election.

Under the President's proposals, such elections would be postponed during a strike and not held until four months after its settlement, "in order to make it impossible for an employer to destroy a union."

Other proposed amendments would prohibit secondary boycotts, i.e, strikes against companies supplying the company against which the principal strike is directed; permit unions to represent employees in negotiating a wage contract before they are hired; require management officials to sign non - Communist oaths in NLRB cases, as union officials must now; authorize boards of inquiry in management - labor disputes to make recommendations, instead of being limited to fact finding.

Some union officials have said that these changes are desirable, but not worth the risk of another failure to put them through Congress. Just now AFL-CIO officials are too concerned by the investigations of labor racketeering by the McClellan committee to concentrate on a drive to change the Taft-Hartley Act.

When the late Senator Robert A. Taft directed the successful battle for Taft-Hartley ten years ago, many veteran political observers predicted his defeat as a candidate for re-election in Ohio in 1950. Instead, he became the most prominent Republican of that period in winning by a half million majority over an Ohio Democrat with labor endorsement.

Since then, Democrats have controlled three of four Congresses, and more than a score of bills to repeal the act have been introduced five of which have had committee hearings. Meanwhile, the labor protests have dwindled from a roar to a monotone. It looks as though the act setting up a new code of labor relations is here to stay.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Politicians Depart From Platforms With Great Ease

I was looking at a piece by Roscoe Drummond, the very able writer for the New York Herald Tribune, entitled "Republican Platform Vs. Bricker Amendment" and it raised for me an issue that is very puzzling. From the time of the Declaration of Independence and the adoption of the Constitution, the United states functioned according to a set of political theories which were well understood and over the application of which to current events men differed and argued.

The point that Drummond made was that a paragraph in the Republican platform 'dealt a body blow to any Bricker-type amendment which would restrict the treaty-making powers of the President and the Senate." This means an amendment to the Constitution.

Without at all discussing the virtues of the Bricker amendment but limiting oneself only to the theory of American government, no clause, phrase or paragraph in the platform of any political party possesses the value of an act of Congress or of an amendment to the Constitution.

In fact, the political convention is an extra-legal institution for which no provision has been made in the Constitution and the platform or resolutions of such a party are not in any real sense a binding pledge from which the party or those of its members elected to office may not depart. As a matter of actual practice, they generally do depart far and wide from the platform, forgetting its provisions with the greatest of ease. No federal law governs the political convention and each party makes its own rules and seats its own delegates and sets itself up as the sole judge of the propriety of its conduct, except as it may be influenced or affected by public opinion.

Very little business is actually transacted on the convention floor, the noise, excitement, oratory, music and other instruments of pandemonium making it fairly impossible. Since television has become available, the convention is less important than ever, most of the business of the political party being conducted in the privacy of hotel rooms, usually quite distant from the auditorium where the convention is held.

The paragraph to which Drummond referred reads:

"We maintain that no treaty or international agreement can deprive any of our citizens of constitutional rights."

This, like all other resolutions, is an obiter dictum and has no validity in the law of the land. Even if all conventions of all political parties adopted the same provisions, they would have no validity unless enacted by Congress or formally passed, with great hardship, as an amendment to the Constitution.

No United States senator or member of the House of Representatives is in any way bound, by law, by the Constitution or by the rules of either house of Congress to abide temporarily or forever by any provision of the platform of his own or any other political party. It is not a matter of law; it could be a matter of choice. A senator is bound to represent the state which elects him in the Senate of the United States; a representative is bound by American political theory and by the realities of political practice to abide by the prevailing views of his constituency.

Thus Senators Ives and Javits, Republicans, representing the state of New York in the Senate, adopt an attitude toward the Middle Eastern situation, which most closely reflects the voters' opinions in their state. Equally, Senator Eastland reflects as truly as a gauge public opinion in Mississippi. Nobody represents or reflects the platform of his party.

It would be interesting to know if any senator or representative recalls the provisions of the platforms of either party. Really, who cares?

The Democratic platform of 1932 was all for economy; it was not long before President Roosevelt employed the New Deal as a device to fight the depression by a redistribution of wealth. This was, at one period, euphemistically called 'pump priming." Whatever it was called, it ushered in an era of spend and spend, tax and tax, which is not yet ended nor is the end in sight. I wonder how much of the Republican platform of 1952 or 1956, President Eisenhower has regarded as binding upon him.

It would be, of course, of some value to know what the philosophy of the two leading parties is and how they differ. Thus far such knowledge has not been available.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

Details Are Announced Concerning The Enlargement Of Vast Mortgage Concern

WASHINGTON, March 15 (CQ)—Congress is about to make the biggest mortgage company in the world even bigger.

The move will help thousands of bankers, home buyers and builders, according to those who run the company.

The company is a Government agency officially named the Federal National Mortgage Assn. (FNMA) but sually called Fannie Mae. It buys and sells Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration home mortgages all over the United States.

Fannie Mae first wss chartered by Congress in 1938 and rechartered with revised functions in 1954. One of its main duties is to help keep mortgage money fluid. It does this by purchasing VA and FHA mortgages from banks and other lending institutios in scarce money areas and reselling them in places where investment dollars go begging. It deals only with private lenders, not individuals.

Today money is so tight over such a wide area that Fannie Mae has a special problem. Hundreds of banks want to sell their mortgages to Fannie Mae so they will have cash to reinvest in more profitable channels but few want to buy mortgages from the agency. By the end of March, Fannie Mae will have bought $1 billion worth of home mortgages, a record amount under its ner charter. In contrast, the agency has been able to sell only $5 million worth of its mortgages since 1954.

Fannie Mae under current law is authorized to borrow $1.1 bilkon to buy mortgages. Its heavy buying cannot continue much longer unless Congress gives it permission to borrow more money and if it can't buy mortgages, money for home buyers won't be easily available. The House Feb. 20 authorized Fannie Mae to borrow an additional $500 million. The Senate will do likewise in the next few days and it seems certain President Eisenhower will sign the legislation into law.

Study Long-Range Goals

With the additional $500 million borrowing authority all but certain, Congress in hearings this month will turn away from that emergency measure to determine what long-range role the agency should play in the housing field. The way it operates will come under close scrutiny. Here is a simplified explanation.

Say a Dallas bank wants to loan a business firm money to expand but has its cash tied up in home mortgages. It could get cash by selling dozens of its VA and FHA home mortgages to Fannie Mae.

Fannie Mae, in turn, which keeps its eye on mortgaget ransactions throughout the United States, finds a New York savings and loan association with extra cash it wants to invest in home mortgages. So Fannie Mae sells the mortgage formerly held by the Dallas bank to the New York association. The homeowner, unaware of the transaction, keeps making his mortgage payments to the Dallas bank which then forwards the money to the proper party.

The agency also says it helps the home buyer by supplying a yardstick for mortgage prices. Suppose you need a $10,000 bank loan to buy a home. The banker tells you demand for his money is so great that he will have to charge you $1,000 just for granting the loan. This constitutes a 10 per cent mortgage discount. You take your case to another bank which deals with Fannie Mae. The banker there finds that Fannie Mae will buy the mortgage on your house for $9,500. Knowing he can resell your mortgage for at least $9,500, the banker agrees to discount your mortgage only 5 per cent. You save $500.

Standby Commitment

Fannie Mae says it helps home builders, too, by promising to buy mortgages on houses not yet constructed. This advance promise by Fannie Mae is called a standby commitment. A builder asks a bank how much mortgage money he can get for 100 houses he wants to build. The banks asks Fannie Mae and is promised $9,500 for every $10,000 mortgage the bank writes on the new homes. So the banker tells the builder the money will be available at a five per cent mortgage discount. The builder, good for one year, feels secure in putting up his houses. He knows that his future customers will be able to get mortgage money. And he can shop around during the year the commitment holds for cheaper mortgage money.

For its services, Fannie Mae requires those who sell mortgages to the agency to buy stock in it. The stock purchase requirement is two per cent of the face value of the mortgage. So on a $10,000 mortgage, the bank selling it to Fannie Mae must buy $200 worth of the agency's stock.

The idea behind the stock purchase requirement is to turn Fannie Mae over to private lenders eventually. J. Stanley Baughman, Fannie Mae president, estimates it will take from seven to 10 years for his agency to pass into private hands. The timing depends on when Fannie Mae takes in enough money from its stock and mortgage sales to buy back the preferred stock the U. S. Treasuery bought to get the agency started.

Baughman says the Government should maintain supervision over the agency after it becomes privately owned bo make sure it continues to serve the purpose for which it was created.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Wolfson Set To Move Into Another Giant Enterprise

BY SYLVIA PORTER

MIAMI, Fla. — Louis E. Wolfson, the 45-year-old financial genius who heads a $235 million corporate empire and who in the last 24 months has been involved in some of the roughest stockholder fights of this century, is set to move into another giant enterprise.

It is American Motors Corporation.

American Motors is the company which was created in 1954 out of the merger of Nash-Kelvinator Corp., and Hudson Motors and which is now struggling to survive against the overwhelmingly fierce competition of the auto industry's General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Without any publicity whatsoever, Wolfson and his wife already have bought a whopping block of over 240,000 shares of AM stock.

Through friends who passionately believe that anything Wolfson touches will make money and through other stockholders who are thoroughly disenchanted with AM's current management, Wolfson can count on additional substantial support in any conflict that develops.

Right now, Wolfson and his supporters own enough stock to give them a powerful voice in the future decisions of the quarter-billion dollar company. They could have close to working control.

What's more, AM's president, George Romney, knows of Wolfson's intense interest in the company and meetings between the two men are on schedule for this month in Florida and next month in Detroit.

And now others in the automobile industry and you who are reading this know of what's going on behind the scenes too.

Wolfson's newest move well may rival or even surpass his spectacular campaign to win control of the billion - dollar Montgomery Ward in the spring of 1955 — a fight which Wolfson "lost" in the headlines but which he actually won because everything he wanted done by and for Montgomery Ward then has since taken place. And it was Wolfson's fight which forced the aging Sewell Avery out of Ward and gave the company new life and vitality.

Wolfson's decision to get into AM and save it before its situation becomes even more critical financially also may do much to silence those who think of him as a "raider." For while his program for AM would involve a tearing apart of its structure, his aim is undeniably to turn it from a staggering loser in the automobile field to a brilliant winner in the appliance and other fields.

Ever since the company's birth in 1954, it has lost money steadily. In the year ended last Sept. 30, the company lost a thumping $19.7 million, triple its loss of the previous year. In output of cars in the first two months of 1957, it ranked fifth in a field of five — and, while measured by almost any standard outside of the auto industry AM is a huge concern, in the auto industry it's a pigmy and a sick pigmy at that.

Yet, significantly, when Romney was revealing the sour 1956 statement, he disclosed that although the auto division had a "sizable loss," the appliance division (Kelvinator) had the "most profitable year since 1950."

And that leads directly to Wolfson who has been looking hard at AM's balance sheet, cash position, tax credits, etc., and who is convinced that if AM is to continue, bold action must be taken. Under his overall program, he would:

Get rid of AM's losing auto manufacturing division and plants for which the company has no real use;

Try to sell to another automobile corporation AM's important auto division — mainly, of course, the Rambler;

Retain and concentrate on making more profitable AM's profitable properties — mainly, Kelvinator;

Merge the profitable properties of AM with certain properties already in his own corporate empire — for instance, Marion Power Shovel and Osgood Co., and Tennessee Produces & Chemical Corp.;

Use the tax credit (tax loss carry forward) which AM has — amounting to a full $3 million for 1957 and $5.6 million for 1958 — to offset the profits of the revamped AM so that its tax bill would be slashed, its earnings would be built up and the stockholders cuuld look forward to a return on their investment instead of crisis after crisis.

It is Wolfson's conviction that if AM isn't overhauled, it faces eventual bankruptcy — with the devastation that would mean to its 22,000 employes and 50,000 stockholders. But if it is reorganized, tne jobs of at least 7,000 will be secure with the new corporation, the jobs of other employes may be preserved and the stockholders will benefit.

It's scarcely the program of a "raider" or callous "liquidator." Quite the contrary. This is a first report on what well may be one of the top financial stories of 1957. I'll be back as developments unfold.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Critics Often See Only Small Part Of Picture

Molly's question is very interesting. It shows that "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." Notice the sincerity, but errors, of the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan. And warn your teenagers about being so positive when they have seen only a small segment of the elephant of LIFE. Witch burners and fanatics also have very limited social and scientific experience.

"Dr. Crane, I recall a few days ago that you said some critics of newspaper features are sincere but misguided," she began

"You said they didn't have enough experience to make a valid criticism. I am in agreement with that, but wish you'd explain it more fully so some of my high school debate students would get the point readily.

"For we are now studying the fallacies in logic."

Most of you readers may recall the story of the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan who attended a circus and met their first elephant.

When they got home that night, they began discussing the nature of elephants. The man who had seized the tusk, argued vehemently and sincerely that the elephants were like a spear.

Another said an elephant was like a tree. The third insisted elephants were like a rope. The fourth claimed elephants were a type of snake, while the last blind man said they were all wrong, for elephnats were like a big fan.

Each blind man was sincere and honest. And each reported on his personal experience. But each had only a limited segment of the total elephant.

That's the way it is with our human quarrels. Many people argue sincerely and to bolster their point, will actually insist they have seen or felt or experienced life as they claim.

But they may figuratively have handled only the "tusk" or the "tail", so are woefully limited in total perspective.

In my new book "How To 'Cash-In' on Your Worries," I lauded Christian Scientists for their positive outlook.

Immediately, I received a bitter criticism from a Pennsylvanian who is a devout man and otherwise a fine citizen, but he said all Christian Scientists were going to Hell permanently and then cited some of his opinions.

Again, readers attack me for mentioning some of the Catholic priests who use the booklets offered via this column to counsel their newlyweds.

Sometimes an adult will write an consign me to eternal flames in Hades because I fail to indict square dancing as a device of Satan to lead immortal souls astray.

Others even try to high-pressure their editor by intimating that they speak for thousands, as by saying:

"Mr. Editor, thousands of other mothers agree with me that Dr. Crane is an evil influence and a sex-maniac, etc., etc."

For the writer may never have interviewed even 10 other mothers, so that "thousands of other mothers" is just a psychological whip being employed to try to coerce the editor.

Actually, you readers realize that such critics, even though sincere, are just like the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan.

And if you have followed this column for even six months, you probably realize that I am a happily married man, father of 5 children; a lifelong moralist and Bible Class teacher for over 35 years.

As a physician (M.D.) and teaching psychologist (Ph.D.), I have the scientific evidence of two major professional groups, plus the factual data coming from 1,000 letters per day outlining your varied problems.

I don't claim to be omniscient, but I have experienced more than the "tusk" on the elephant of LIFE.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you sent for one of his booklets.)

Republicans in Congress want to lop off about $6 billion but no one is clear how to do it. Senator Byrd sets his sights for reduction of $5 billion, and is more explicit.

Executive departments and agencies have already told the appropriations subcommittees not to look at them—they're already operating on a shoestring. When one Congressman suggested that perhaps some home district public works might be dispensed with, sensitive log-rollers cried, "Foul!"

An onlooker gets the impression that thrift in Washington is largely the other fellow's virtue. Budget trimmers seem less interested in eliminating extravagance than in making sure the economy ax doesn't hit any political sacred cow.

No department head ever tells Congress his operation is too expensive. Members of Congress can seldom go behind routine testimony of the department itself to examine whether things are being done that do not need doing t costs out of proportion to value received.

Solons Weakening On Trade Stamps Issue

A majority of the Tennessee legislature's lower house looks favorably upon a bill which the upper house has already passed by a big majority, aimed at taxing trading stamps out of the state. License fees are to be doubled. Retail outlets using the stamps are to pay a 2 per cent sales tax on their gross receipts.

The Tennessee legislators undoubtedly were convinced they were acting for good and sufficient reasons. They regard the premium idea as having been carried too for.

But the 53 members of Tennessee's lower house who expressed intentions of voting the bill into law are squirming. An organized protest of housewives has been turned loose on them.

Charging that the anti-trading stamp bill sailed through the Senate without a public hearing, and that the same thing is about to happen in the House, the women bombarded the legistature with telegrams, telephone calls and letters. They flocked to the law-making halls carrying banners.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

Details Are Announced Concerning The Enlargement Of Vast Mortgage Concern

WASHINGTON, March 15 (CQ)—Congress is about to make the biggest mortgage company in the world even bigger.

The move will help thousands of bankers, home buyers and builders, according to those who run the company.

The company is a Government agency officially named the Federal National Mortgage Assn. (FNMA) but sually called Fannie Mae. It buys and sells Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration home mortgages all over the United States.

Fannie Mae first wss chartered by Congress in 1938 and rechartered with revised functions in 1954. One of its main duties is to help keep mortgage money fluid. It does this by purchasing VA and FHA mortgages from banks and other lending institutios in scarce money areas and reselling them in places where investment dollars go begging. It deals only with private lenders, not individuals.

Today money is so tight over such a wide area that Fannie Mae has a special problem. Hundreds of banks want to sell their mortgages to Fannie Mae so they will have cash to reinvest in more profitable channels but few want to buy mortgages from the agency. By the end of March, Fannie Mae will have bought $1 billion worth of home mortgages, a record amount under its ner charter. In contrast, the agency has been able to sell only $5 million worth of its mortgages since 1954.

Fannie Mae under current law is authorized to borrow $1.1 bilkon to buy mortgages. Its heavy buying cannot continue much longer unless Congress gives it permission to borrow more money and if it can't buy mortgages, money for home buyers won't be easily available. The House Feb. 20 authorized Fannie Mae to borrow an additional $500 million. The Senate will do likewise in the next few days and it seems certain President Eisenhower will sign the legislation into law.

Study Long-Range Goals

With the additional $500 million borrowing authority all but certain, Congress in hearings this month will turn away from that emergency measure to determine what long-range role the agency should play in the housing field. The way it operates will come under close scrutiny. Here is a simplified explanation.

Say a Dallas bank wants to loan a business firm money to expand but has its cash tied up in home mortgages. It could get cash by selling dozens of its VA and FHA home mortgages to Fannie Mae.

Fannie Mae, in turn, which keeps its eye on mortgaget ransactions throughout the United States, finds a New York savings and loan association with extra cash it wants to invest in home mortgages. So Fannie Mae sells the mortgage formerly held by the Dallas bank to the New York association. The homeowner, unaware of the transaction, keeps making his mortgage payments to the Dallas bank which then forwards the money to the proper party.

The agency also says it helps the home buyer by supplying a yardstick for mortgage prices. Suppose you need a $10,000 bank loan to buy a home. The banker tells you demand for his money is so great that he will have to charge you $1,000 just for granting the loan. This constitutes a 10 per cent mortgage discount. You take your case to another bank which deals with Fannie Mae. The banker there finds that Fannie Mae will buy the mortgage on your house for $9,500. Knowing he can resell your mortgage for at least $9,500, the banker agrees to discount your mortgage only 5 per cent. You save $500.

Standby Commitment

Fannie Mae says it helps home builders, too, by promising to buy mortgages on houses not yet constructed. This advance promise by Fannie Mae is called a standby commitment. A builder asks a bank how much mortgage money he can get for 100 houses he wants to build. The banks asks Fannie Mae and is promised $9,500 for every $10,000 mortgage the bank writes on the new homes. So the banker tells the builder the money will be available at a five per cent mortgage discount. The builder, good for one year, feels secure in putting up his houses. He knows that his future customers will be able to get mortgage money. And he can shop around during the year the commitment holds for cheaper mortgage money.

For its services, Fannie Mae requires those who sell mortgages to the agency to buy stock in it. The stock purchase requirement is two per cent of the face value of the mortgage. So on a $10,000 mortgage, the bank selling it to Fannie Mae must buy $200 worth of the agency's stock.

The idea behind the stock purchase requirement is to turn Fannie Mae over to private lenders eventually. J. Stanley Baughman, Fannie Mae president, estimates it will take from seven to 10 years for his agency to pass into private hands. The timing depends on when Fannie Mae takes in enough money from its stock and mortgage sales to buy back the preferred stock the U. S. Treasuery bought to get the agency started.

Baughman says the Government should maintain supervision over the agency after it becomes privately owned bo make sure it continues to serve the purpose for which it was created.

BASCOM TIMMONS REPORTS

All factors considered, the much maligned Taft-Hartley act has stood the test of time pretty well. There are still those around who remember when the law was enacted in 1947, by a Republican Congress over the veto of President Harry S. Truman. They recall how it was lambasted by labor chiefs as "the slave labor law." A younger generation remembers that it has been a political whipping boy in every subsequent election, with candidates on both sides spouting pledges for its repeal, which were never fulfilled after the votes were counted.

Now, nearing its tenth anniversary, Taft-Hartley not only is still on the books, but has been subjected to no major change since its enactment. But President Eisenhower, mindful of the Republican wooing of the labor vote, which figured so heavily in giving Democrats control of Congress in 1956, will soon ask for several amendments.

That, however, is not new. The President recommended 15 separate changes in Taft-Hartley in 1954. They reached their high water mark when a bill containing some of them was considered by the Senate and sent back to committee. In the two subsequent sessions he has repeated his requests.

The truth seems to be, though organized labor leaders will not admit it publicly, that they have learned to live with the Taft - Hartley act, if not to like it. So far this year, there has been no sign of any drive by organized labor for revision of the law (the big unions long ago gave up hope of repealing it).

Labor's big fight now is spread over the country, directed against the state "right to work" laws, which have taken on new life with the enactment of such a law in Indiana, outlawing the union shop. In the Hoosier state, where unions are powerful politically, legislators from farm and industrial districts combined to force the bill through both houses.

The Eisenhower proposals for amendment of the Taft-Hartley act do not touch section 14 (B) which permits state laws forbidding union shop contracts in languages so clear that the Supreme Court has not invoked its new doctrine overriding states rights in dealing with legal attacks on such laws. This is the section which the unions particularly dislike, since it leaves the way open for state laws banning all forms of labor - management agreements involving compulsory union contracts.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who will direct for the administration whatever effort is made to amend the law at this session, is expected to propose a change in the so called "union busting" section, which makes employees on strike ineligible to vote on a union to represent them in a National Labor Relations Board election.

Under the President's proposals, such elections would be postponed during a strike and not held until four months after its settlement, "in order to make it impossible for an employer to destroy a union."

Other proposed amendments would prohibit secondary boycotts, i.e, strikes against companies supplying the company against which the principal strike is directed; permit unions to represent employees in negotiating a wage contract before they are hired; require management officials to sign non - Communist oaths in NLRB cases, as union officials must now; authorize boards of inquiry in management - labor disputes to make recommendations, instead of being limited to fact finding.

Some union officials have said that these changes are desirable, but not worth the risk of another failure to put them through Congress. Just now AFL-CIO officials are too concerned by the investigations of labor racketeering by the McClellan committee to concentrate on a drive to change the Taft-Hartley Act.

When the late Senator Robert A. Taft directed the successful battle for Taft-Hartley ten years ago, many veteran political observers predicted his defeat as a candidate for re-election in Ohio in 1950. Instead, he became the most prominent Republican of that period in winning by a half million majority over an Ohio Democrat with labor endorsement.

Since then, Democrats have controlled three of four Congresses, and more than a score of bills to repeal the act have been introduced five of which have had committee hearings. Meanwhile, the labor protests have dwindled from a roar to a monotone. It looks as though the act setting up a new code of labor relations is here to stay.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Politicians Depart From Platforms With Great Ease

I was looking at a piece by Roscoe Drummond, the very able writer for the New York Herald Tribune, entitled "Republican Platform Vs. Bricker Amendment" and it raised for me an issue that is very puzzling. From the time of the Declaration of Independence and the adoption of the Constitution, the United states functioned according to a set of political theories which were well understood and over the application of which to current events men differed and argued.

The point that Drummond made was that a paragraph in the Republican platform "dealt a body blow to any Bricker-type amendment which would restrict the treaty-making powers of the President and the Senate." This means an amendment to the Constitution.

Without at all discussing the virtues of the Bricker amendment but limiting oneself only to the theory of American government, no clause, phrase or paragraph in the platform of any political party possesses the value of an act of Congress or of an amendment to the Constitution.

In fact, the political convention is an extra-legal institution for which no provision has been made in the Constitution and the platform or resolutions of such a party are not in any real sense a binding pledge from which the party or those of its members elected to office may not depart. As a matter of actual practice, they generally do depart far and wide from the platform, forgetting its provisions with the greatest of ease. No federal law governs the political convention and each party makes its own rules and seats its own delegates and sets itself up as the sole judge of the propriety of its conduct, except as it may be influenced or affected by public opinion.

Very little business is actually transacted on the convention floor, the noise, excitement, oratory, music and other instruments of pandemonium making it fairly impossible. Since television has become available, the convention is less important than ever, most of the business of the political party being conducted in the privacy of hotel rooms, usually quite distant from the auditorium where the convention is held.

The paragraph to which Drummond referred reads:

"We maintain that no treaty or international agreement can deprive any of our citizens of constitutional rights."

This, like all other resolutions, is an obiter dictum and has no validity in the law of the land. Even if all conventions of all political parties adopted the same provisions, they would have no validity unless enacted by Congress or formally passed, with great hardship, as an amendment to the Constitution.

No United States senator or member of the House of Representatives is in any way bound, by law, by the Constitution or by the rules of either house of Congress to abide temporarily or forever by any provision of the platform of his own or any other political party. It is not a matter of law; it could be a matter of choice. A senator is bound to represent the state which elects him in the Senate of the United States; a representative is bound by American political theory and by the realities of political practice to abide by the prevailing views of his constituency.

Thus Senators Ives and Javits, Republicans, representing the state of New York in the Senate, adopt an attitude toward the Middle Eastern situation, which most closely reflects the voters' opinions in their state. Equally, Senator Eastland reflects as truly as a gauge public opinion in Mississippi. Nobody represents or reflects the platform of his party.

It would be interesting to know if any senator or representative recalls the provisions of the platforms of either party. Really, who cares?

The Democratic platform of 1932 was all for economy; it was not long before President Roosevelt employed the New Deal as a device to fight the depression by a redistribution of wealth. This was, at one period, euphemistically called 'pump priming." Whatever it was called, it ushered in an era of spend and spend, tax and tax, which is not yet ended nor is the end in sight. I wonder how much of the Republican platform of 1952 or 1956, President Eisenhower has regarded as binding upon him.

It would be, of course, of some value to know what the philosophy of the two leading parties is and how they differ. Thus far such knowledge has not been available. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Wolfson Set To Move Into Another Giant Enterprise

BY SYLVIA PORTER

MIAMI, Fla. — Louis E. Wolfson, the 45-year-old financial genius who heads a $235 million corporate empire and who in the last 24 months has been involved in some of the roughest stockholder fights of this century, is set to move into another giant enterprise.

It is American Motors Corporation.

American Motors is the company which was created in 1954 out of the merger of Nash-Kelvinator Corp., and Hudson Motors and which is now struggling to survive against the overwhelmingly fierce competition of the auto industry's General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Without any publicity whatsoever, Wolfson and his wife already have bought a whopping block of over 240,000 shares of AM stock.

Through friends who passionately believe that anything Wolfson touches will make money and through other stockholders who are thoroughly disenchanted with AM's current management, Wolfson can count on additional substantial support in any conflict that develops.

Right now, Wolfson and his supporters own enough stock to give them a powerful voice in the future decisions of the quarter-billion dollar company. They could have close to working control.

What's more, AM's president, George Romney, knows of Wolfson's intense interest in the company and meetings between the two men are on schedule for this month in Florida and next month in Detroit.

And now others in the automobile industry and you who are reading this know of what's going on behind the scenes too.

Wolfson's newest move well may rival or even surpass his spectacular campaign to win control of the billion - dollar Montgomery Ward in the spring of 1955 — a fight which Wolfson "lost' in the headlines but which he actually won because everything he wanted done by and for Montgomery Ward then has since taken place. And it was Wolfson's fight which forced the aging Sewell Avery out of Ward and gave the company new life and vitality.

Wolfson's decision to get into AM and save it before its situation becomes even more critical financially also may do much to silence those who think of him as a "raider." For while his program for AM would involve a tearing apart of its structure, his aim is undeniably to turn it from a staggering loser in the automobile field to a brilliant winner in the appliance and other fields.

Ever since the company's birth in 1954, it has lost money steadily. In the year ended last Sept. 30, the company lost a thumping $19.7 million, triple its loss of the previous year. In output of cars in the first two months of 1957, it ranked fifth in a field of five — and, while measured by almost any standard outside of the auto industry AM is a huge concern, in the auto industry it's a pigmy and a sick pigmy at that.

Yet, significantly, when Romney was revealing the sour 1956 statement, he disclosed that although the auto division had a "sizable loss," the appliance division (Kelvinator) had the "most profitable year since 1950."

And that leads directly to Wolfson who has been looking hard at AM's balance sheet, cash position, tax credits, etc., and who is convinced that if AM is to continue, bold action must be taken. Under his overall program, he would:

Get rid of AM's losing auto manufacturing division and plants for which the company has no real use;

Try to sell to another automobile corporation AM's important auto division — mainly, of course, the Rambler;

Retain and concentrate on making more profitable AM's profitable properties — mainly, Kelvinator;

Merge the profitable properties of AM with certain properties already in his own corporate empire — for instance, Marion Power Shovel and Osgood Co., and Tennessee Produces & Chemical Corp.;

Use the tax credit (tax loss carry forward) which AM has — amounting to a full $3 million for 1957 and $5.6 million for 1958 — to offset the profits of the revamped AM so that its tax bill would be slashed, its earnings would be built up and the stockholders cuuld look forward to a return on their investment instead of crisis after crisis.

It is Wolfson's conviction that if AM isn't overhauled, it faces eventual bankruptcy — with the devastation that would mean to its 22,000 employes and 50,000 stockholders. But if it is reorganized, tne jobs of at least 7,000 will be secure with the new corporation, the jobs of other employes may be preserved and the stockholders will benefit.

It's scarcely the program of a "raider" or callous "liquidator." Quite the contrary. This is a first report on what well may be one of the top financial stories of 1957. I'll be back as developments unfold.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Critics Often See Only Small Part Of Picture

Molly's question is very interesting. It shows that "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." Notice the sincerity, but errors, of the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan. And warn your teenagers about being so positive when they have seen only a small segment of the elephant of LIFE. Witch burners and fanatics also have very limited social and scientific experience.

"Dr. Crane, I recall a few days ago that you said some critics of newspaper features are sincere but misguided," she began

"You said they didn't have enough experience to make a valid criticism. I am in agreement with that, but wish you'd explain it more fully so some of my high school debate students would get the point readily.

"For we are now studying the fallacies in logic."

Most of you readers may recall the story of the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan who attended a circus and met their first elephant.

When they got home that night, they began discussing the nature of elephants. The man who had seized the tusk, argued vehemently and sincerely that the elephants were like a spear.

Another said an elephant was like a tree. The third insisted elephants were like a rope. The fourth claimed elephants were a type of snake, while the last blind man said they were all wrong, for elephnats were like a big fan.

Each blind man was sincere and honest. And each reported on his personal experience. But each had only a limited segment of the total elephant.

That's the way it is with our human quarrels. Many people argue sincerely and to bolster their point, will actually insist they have seen or felt or experienced life as they claim.

But they may figuratively have handled only the "tusk" or the "tail", so are woefully limited in total perspective.

In my new book "How To 'Cash-In' on Your Worries," I lauded Christian Scientists for their positive outlook.

Immediately, I received a bitter criticism from a Pennsylvanian who is a devout man and otherwise a fine citizen, but he said all Christian Scientists were going to Hell permanently and then cited some of his opinions.

Again, readers attack me for mentioning some of the Catholic priests who use the booklets offered via this column to counsel their newlyweds.

"All Catholics are anti-Chrst," wrote one such opinionated person.

Sometimes an adult will write an consign me to eternal flames in Hades because I fail to indict square dancing as a device of Satan to lead immortal souls astray.

Others even try to high-pressure their editor by intimating that they speak for thousands, as by saying:

"Mr. Editor, thousands of other mothers agree with me that Dr. Crane is an evil influence and a sex-maniac, etc., etc."

For the writer may never have interviewed even 10 other mothers, so that "thousands of other mothers" is just a psychological whip being employed to try to coerce the editor.

Actually, you readers realize that such critics, even though sincere, are just like the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan.

And if you have followed this column for even six months, you probably realize that I am a happily married man, father of 5 children; a lifelong moralist and Bible Class teacher for over 35 years.

As a physician (M.D.) and teaching psychologist (Ph.D.), I have the scientific evidence of two major professional groups, plus the factual data coming from 1,000 letters per day outlining your varied problems.

I don't claim to be omniscient, but I have experienced more than the "tusk" on the elephant of LIFE.

AT MEETING HERE

Stepped-Up Tree Farm Work Urged

Better forest management through a stepped-up Tree Farm Program was called for yesterday by Vernon Adkins, State tree Farm committeeman, of Jonesboro at a meeting here.

Fourteen forestry workers from Monroe and Northeast Louisiana attended the meeting.

Established by the Louisiana Forestry Association, Tree Farm standards are based upon the landowner's record of forest management, utilization, protection and reforestation, Adkins said.

"The Tree Farm system is a program to encourage good forest management," Adkins explained. "It is designed to give public recognition to the private timberland owner who has done a good job forestry and to interest his neighbors in doing the same."

The program was started November 1, 1950 and has since certified 340 tree farms covering 2,294,928 acres throughout the state.

Adkins said the Tree Farm program establishes the following standards:

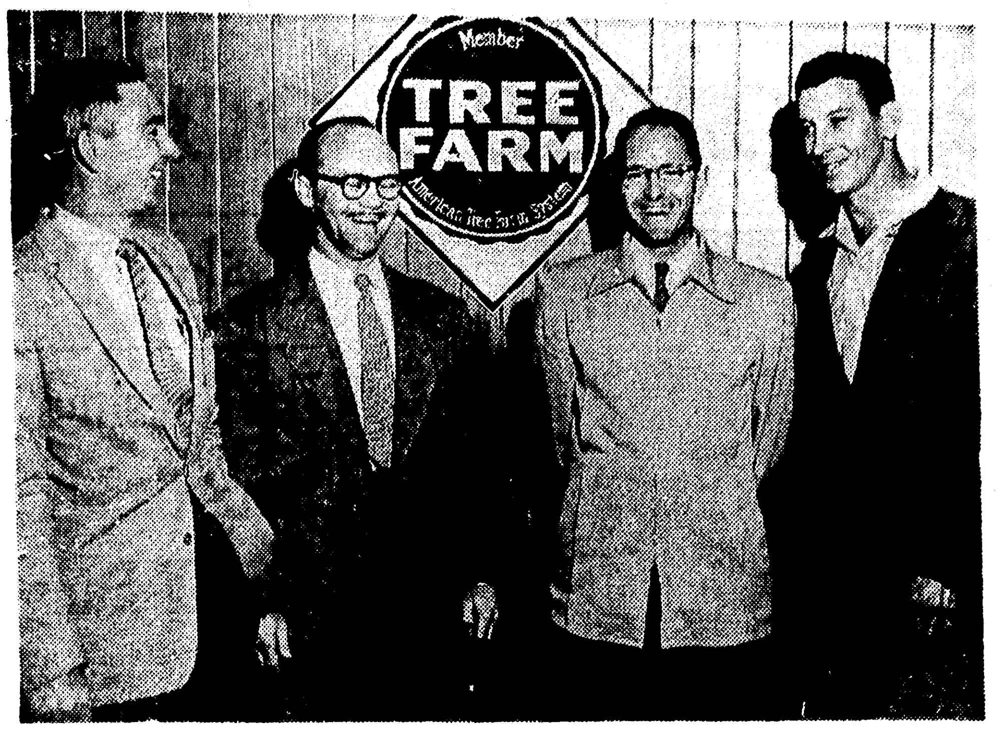
(1). the owner will have been protecting and managing his forest land for the continuous production of commercial timber crops for at least five years.

(2) the owner will provide reasonable protection from fire, insects, diseases and grazing.

(3) the owner will have in operation a program of systematic forest cuttings, including subsequent treatments where necessary, to assure continuous production of commercial timber crops.

(4) the owner will reforest or interplant those areas where natural restocking will not occur.

In addition to Adkins and District Forester Vernon E. Robinson, those present included the following: Bill Henderson, Ruston, Burvis Rockett, Junction City; Ray Adams, Wisner; C. T. Carlton, Newellton; J. A. McWilliams, Monroe, Edward E. Lewis, Ernest P. Lager and William B. Cooper, all of Tallulah, G. Glenn Ham, Fairbanks, Lawrence B. Breard, Bastrop and C. F. Woodcock and A. B. Smith, both of West Monroe.



WHO SAID CHEESE?—Although free farming is serious business, these forestry workers paused in good humor at a meeting here yesterday. District Forester Vernon Robinson, and foresters A. B. less energy, her understanding mind, her innate business judgment and withal that real finesse that crowned her work completely. The News-Star—World was quick to appreciate that she was a rare acquisition to the staff of the papers.

A state editor was needed, a little later, and she was the one selected. In this role she fitted in just as she had done in her work in the Twin Cities. The new post enabled adding unnumbered friends and contacts that broadened and enriched her life and added attainments for these papers circulate over fully a fourth of the state of Louisiana.

No one can tell the great number of friends, state-wide, she has made or the darkened, poverty stricken homes, the sick beds that were brightened by her.

But the end in time comes to everything and Yvonne is this week leaving the newspaper to accept a state job with the Department of Welfare, where she will continue to administer aid to those who sorely need it. We know of no one who is better suited to such a job than is Yvonne Herron. Here's wishing for her many years of successful service to the public which is so dear and near to her heart.

The film was a loan for the occasion and had been shown last week to those attending a convention of paper and newsmen assembled here.

The program for the night was in charge of Sam Orchard, of a local paper company, who was introduced by the club president, Milton Childers. He gave a brief introductory talk and Captain J. W. Faler operated the film.

Smith, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber, and other local leaders said that the new case gives Monroe a better opportunity to present its case.

CASE EXPLAINED

They explained that if the hearing can be brought here, the Twin Cities will stand an even better chance to obtain direct service to Houston.

The CAB had originally planned to include Monroe in the larger Southeastern Case. Smith presented Monroe's request to be placed in a smaller case in Washington.

The CAB also stated that the South Central Case can be handled more expeditiously than the Southeastern area local service case.

Direct service is also being sought by Alexandria and Lake Charles.

Sunny Today Rain Sunday

Despite meteors which shattered the night-time, the Twin-Cities area is in for a normal, pleasant day, Saturday weather-wise.

The Weather Bureau at Selman Field said that today will be fair and warmer than Friday, with clear skies. Enjoy it while it lasts — rain is forecast for Sunday.

Explodes In Gulf; South Areas Hit

seconds and went from north to south."

New Iberia, La: "It crashed in the Gulf and seemed to be the size of a small city afire."

State police in Baton Rouge heard reports that fragments had fallen in Walker, Gonzales, Plaquemines, Opelousas, Lafayette, Jackson, Erwinville, Marsh Island, Baton Rouge and Tallulah, and south of Lake Charles, La.

There were other reports of fragments falling at Hamilton and Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jackson, Miss., and as far west as Houston, Tex.

Some calling in said it streamed red behind; other reported green, but the CAA said atmospheric conditions could focus one color to some, another to others.

"It was as big as an automobile," said Richard Fallen of Monroe.

Another in the south end of town said it lighted up the ground below. A West Monroyan reported the same.

"I was watching television and it lighted up my living room," one Swartz caller said.

LIGHT STREAMS

Oscar Rash at the Star Drive-In said he thought someone had turned their car lights on behind him and turned to see "streams of brilliant light."

The AP at New Orleans said it reportedly hit the ground near Opelousas "shortly after 10."

The CAA said meteors break in the sky during certain seasons, but wasn't sure if this is the proper time for such activity.

"It lighted up the Rainbow like day," clubowner W. H. Smith called.

Trailing streamers of red to some and green to others, it was reported southeast to Mobile and southwest to Fort Worth before sprinkling South Louisiana from Baton Rouge to Lafayette.

FAST AS LIGHTNING

Big as an automobile and fast as lightning, the meteor aroused the countryside as eyewitness reports swamped the State Police and newspaper offices from north to south Louisiana.

The CAA at Selman Field, who earlier in the night reported it was expecting star activity, said its first report came from Mobile. The State Police got its first report from El Dorado and Little Rock was heard by the City Police.

Descending as it rolled southwestward, it apparently broke into bits at Baton Rouge, Opelousas, Walker, Jackson, Lafayette and exploding in the Gulf near Marsh Island south of Abbeville.

"We were turning into our drive-way when a huge white light, like a ball of fire, appeared and seemed to be coming right at us. I put up my hands, because I thought it was going to hit the car. Then, it curved off in another direction, and I saw a huge tail of light burning behind it," was the way Mrs. Clyde Pohl, of 1300 South 5th street described what seems to have been a meteor, which appeared over Louisiana last night.

'LIT SKY'

L. L. LeJeune, of 1102 Natchitoches street in West Monroe, saw a huge ball of flame with a tail, coming down at a 30 degree angle toward the earth. "It lit up the whole sky for a few minutes, he related.

Mrs. Eunice Bush was at the drive-in when she saw huge ball of fire, streaking through the air toward Selman Field. Fearing it was a plane crash, she called authorities, but by then it had been identified as a meteor.

Jim Mulhearn of Sterlington was driving home at 9:50 p.m. when a green ball flashed across the horizon from the east to the west, and disappeared in about five seconds.

OTHER DESCRIPTIONS

According to Professor John H. McCarter, head of the Geology Department at Northeast, the color of light in the meteor depends on the type of metals which are burning. The meteor begins to burn after it reaches the earth's atmosphere, and the "tail" which appears is actually the part of the meteor which is burning off.

Mrs. Austin Miller was in her home on Lakeside Drive in Monroe when a brilliant flash of light lit up the entire yard, "as if it were day." At the same time, Lloyd Roberts, of 1610 S. 3rd street, saw the meteor coming down at a 45 degree angle to the earth, an intense white light, with the tail almost as bright as the meteor, healing southwest.

Dr. Roland Cowden, formerly of Monroe, is currently doing research at the U.S. Atomic center at Oak Ridge, Tenn. on a government fellowship.

He has been engaged in biological research at Oak Ridge since Sept. 1, 1956. He will join the staff of John Hopkins University at Baltimore as an assistant professor of biology in September.

Dr. Cowden studied at the University of Mississippi, Tulane and at LSU, where he received his BS degree.

He received his Ph.D. degree in July of 1956 at the University of Vienna at Vienna, Austria.

Dr. Cowden is a 1948 graduate of Neville High School.

Change Work Field Advises Speaker Here

Work is excluding the most important activities of every-day life, so that family life, political activities and religion have taken on a minor position in modern living, stated Walter Kindelsperger at the concluding session of the 42nd annual Louisiana Conference of Social Welfare, Friday in the Virginia Hotel.

A professor of social group work at Tulane University, Kindelsperger spoke on the manner in which "leisure time" is being used today, and mentioned the possibilities by which "out-side" activities could be integrated into the present-day living.

Quoting from Plato, the speaker stated that after men reach the age of 50, instead of retiring, they should seek another field of activities, in the religious or political vein.

The Rev. Frederick Digby, executive director of the Associated Catholic Charities of New Orleans, was also a featured speaker on the program, with the topic "Family Welfare in Louisiana."

8. FAST is better than PAST. A youngster would be thrilled with seeing a train go FAST but as for PAST the train might be merely crawling along which would be anything but thrilling for the youngster. Thus, FAST is the surer word. LAST is obviously not as good.

11. SAVING not SAYING. No circumstances can, literally, prevent a man from SAYING whatever he wants to - they can merely make it unwise or unfitting that he should do so. His financial circumstances can make it impossible for him to SAVE all he would like to do. Thus, circumstances prevent SAVING - but circumstances do not prevent SAYING, actually. SAWING is more restricted in its application.

16. GIN not GUN. GIN could be dangerous if the child attempted to drink it, but this is not true of an UNLOADED GUN - if there were no ammunition about. Thus, any kind of GIN would be dangerous but only a loaded GUN would be so.

19. BLOCK not BLACK. BLOCK lettering is quite normal of course. However, it would be more normal to say using BLACK ink rather than BLACK lettering when you are addressing a parcel. Thus, to be truly apt BLOCK is preferred over BLACK.

24. LOGS is more apt than DOGS. COGS, FOGS, HOGS and JOGS are too remote. NOGS is not specific enough and TOGS is not as apt as LOGS. It would not be unusual to see LOGS by the fireside but DOGS generally get in front of the fire. Also, since the majority of dog-owners have only one DOG it is fairly unusual to see more than one DOG (DOGS) in front of the fire.

CLUES DOWN:

1. HIRE is better than FIRE or WIRE HIRING will require explaining many things, no doubt - wages, duties, hours, etc., - so care is needed in what is said. In FIRING a man you can be brief and have little to say. As for WIRE, you need no great care unless you must keep under a certain number of words. TIRE is vague.

5. PET rather than BET. SET and VET are too vague. The appeal of BETTING lies not so much in HAVING a BET but the prospect of winning it. PET, therefore, fits the wording of the clue better than BET.

7. MOTHS is preferred to MATHS or MYTHS. "The literary" type should find the study of MYTHS interesting and possibly the history of MATHS but MOTHS is a subject far removed from the literary.

10. RABIDLY is better than RAPIDLY for it includes RAPIDLY. RABIDLY means "furiously" or "savagely" in which case the prey is disposed of RAPIDLY.

12. GANG not GONG. A motorist held up by a GANG of thieves "probably" would get going after a "brief delay," but not always. There are times when he will be forced to stay where he is for some time. He always gets going after a "slight delay" when held up by a GONG from a fire engine or an ambulance, for instance. Thus "probably" favors GANG.

14. ROOF is better than ROOM. A ROOM may be unusual because of its contents which need be of no architectural interest whatsoever. A ROOF, however, carries architectural interest. A ROOT would not be necessarily interesting.

15. SKY is better than SPY for one "watches" a SUSPECT and ARRESTS a SPY. Thus, SKY is the more satisfactory of the two words in view of the clue word "watch."

18. LESS is more apt than LOSS. A man is never TOTALLY deprived of the good things of life, some of which are free; therefore, LOSS hardly applies. He will certainly feel the difference, however, when he has LESS of the good things of life.

19. "At a distance" makes BAR a better answer than BAN. BAG and BAT are not as good. A BAR may be erected to "keep people at a distance," that is, at a certain permissible distance; a BAN is to keep people entirely, not simply "at a distance."

STATE UNEASY

Title Dispute On Mineral Area May Cost $50 Million

BATON ROUGE, March 15 (AP)—Louisiana today sought delay in a title dispute that could result in the loss of state title to "many entire oil fields now state property."

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said he filed a motion before the State Supreme Court in New Orleans asking either return of a case involving royalties to a district court for hearing, a new hearing before the high court or delay until final disposition of a title action filed by the state in Plaquemines Parish.

A 1953 Supreme Court decision said Louisiana did not have title to the 6,400-acre tract, originally purchased in 1874 from the state by John Beckwith, an ex-general of the Union Army.

The tract is in the Grand Bay area of Plaquemines Parish.

". . . The legal principles involved will affect millions of acres of state navigable water bottoms similarly situated," the motion said, "and untold millions of dollars that would normally go into the treasury of the state . . Many entire oil fields now state property will change hands . . ."

Some $237,126 in royalties from producing wells in the area for a two-year period is involved in the case before the high court.

But the petition estimated "an adverse final decision . . . will result in an estimated loss to the people of Louisiana of 50 million dollars."

Gremillion said State Mineral Board officials estimated the earlier decision by the high court had cost the state about 10 million in mineral bonuses because of "the indifference of bidders when they hear of an adverse claim to water bottoms."

Beckwith permitted title to revert to the state for nonpayment of taxes.

However, Gremillion said, in 1946 Isaac R. Price bought up claims to the land by Beckwith's heirs and "further evaded" payment of taxes "through the securing of a purported cancellation, based upon fraudulent representations . . ."

Ceremonies For Ground Breaking

FARMERVILLE March 15, (Special) — A ground-breaking ceremony for the first Catholic Church in Union parish will take place at 9 a.m. Sunday on Paradise Hill here.

In attendance at the ceremony will be Mayor Turnage, civic officials, and members of the church congregation.

The Very Reverend Charles P. Greco, Bishop of the Diocese of Alexandria, has granted approval for the ground-breaking, and the new brick church which will be erected on the site.

At the present time, Father McMullin and Father Vitus, from St. Pascal's Church in West Monroe, are serving the parish, and Mass is said each Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, in the Union Butane Building.

The new church will be on a one-acre plot, four blocks from the center of town, overlooking the Farmerville-Sterlington highway.

Car Flips Over, Driver Escapes Serious Injury

A 1951 sedan went off highway 165 last night, skidded along the shoulder of the road for 100 yards tipped over righted itself and wound up in the center of the highway, almost demolished.

Johnson was one mile north of the Sterlington intersection at about 6:15 p.m. when the accident occurred. He was taken to Conway Memorial Hospital by Mulhearn ambulance, and complained of a sore shoulder.

Hospital attendants said that Johnson was in good condition and probably would not be kept overnight, State police investigated the mishap.

Stepped-Up Tree Farm Work Urged

Better forest management through a stepped-up Tree Farm Program was called for yesterday by Vernon Adkins, State tree Farm committeeman, of Jonesboro at a meeting here.

Fourteen forestry workers from Monroe and Northeast Louisiana attended the meeting.

Established by the Louisiana Forestry Association, Tree Farm standards are based upon the landowner's record of forest management, utilization, protection and reforestation, Adkins said.

"The Tree Farm system is a program to encourage good forest management," Adkins explained. "It is designed to give public recognition to the private timberland owner who has done a good job forestry and to interest his neighbors in doing the same."

The program was started November 1, 1950 and has since certified 340 tree farms covering 2,294,928 acres throughout the state.

Adkins said the Tree Farm program establishes the following standards:

(1). the owner will have been protecting and managing his forest land for the continuous production of commercial timber crops for at least five years.

(2) the owner will provide reasonable protection from fire, insects, diseases and grazing.

(3) the owner will have in operation a program of systematic forest cuttings, including subsequent treatments where necessary, to assure continuous production of commercial timber crops.

(4) the owner will reforest or interplant those areas where natural restocking will not occur.

In addition to Adkins and District Forester Vernon E. Robinson, those present included the following: Bill Henderson, Ruston, Burvis Rockett, Junction City; Ray Adams, Wisner; C. T. Carlton, Newellton; J. A. McWilliams, Monroe, Edward E. Lewis, Ernest P. Lager and William B. Cooper, all of Tallulah, G. Glenn Ham, Fairbanks, Lawrence B. Breard, Bastrop and C. F. Woodcock and A. B. Smith, both of West Monroe.

less energy, her understanding mind, her innate business judgment and withal that real finesse that crowned her work completely. The News-Star—World was quick to appreciate that she was a rare acquisition to the staff of the papers.

A state editor was needed, a little later, and she was the one selected. In this role she fitted in just as she had done in her work in the Twin Cities. The new post enabled adding unnumbered friends and contacts that broadened and enriched her life and added attainments for these papers circulate over fully a fourth of the state of Louisiana.

No one can tell the great number of friends, state-wide, she has made or the darkened, poverty stricken homes, the sick beds that were brightened by her.

But the end in time comes to everything and Yvonne is this week leaving the newspaper to accept a state job with the Department of Welfare, where she will continue to administer aid to those who sorely need it. We know of no one who is better suited to such a job than is Yvonne Herron. Here's wishing for her many years of successful service to the public which is so dear and near to her heart.

The film was a loan for the occasion and had been shown last week to those attending a convention of paper and newsmen assembled here.

The program for the night was in charge of Sam Orchard, of a local paper company, who was introduced by the club president, Milton Childers. He gave a brief introductory talk and Captain J. W. Faler operated the film.

Smith, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber, and other local leaders said that the new case gives Monroe a better opportunity to present its case.

CASE EXPLAINED

They explained that if the hearing can be brought here, the Twin Cities will stand an even better chance to obtain direct service to Houston.

The CAB had originally planned to include Monroe in the larger Southeastern Case. Smith presented Monroe's request to be placed in a smaller case in Washington.

The CAB also stated that the South Central Case can be handled more expeditiously than the Southeastern area local service case.

Direct service is also being sought by Alexandria and Lake Charles.

Sunny Today Rain Sunday

Despite meteors which shattered the night-time, the Twin-Cities area is in for a normal, pleasant day, Saturday weather-wise.

The Weather Bureau at Selman Field said that today will be fair and warmer than Friday, with clear skies. Enjoy it while it lasts — rain is forecast for Sunday.

seconds and went from north to south."

New Iberia, La: "It crashed in the Gulf and seemed to be the size of a small city afire."

State police in Baton Rouge heard reports that fragments had fallen in Walker, Gonzales, Plaquemines, Opelousas, Lafayette, Jackson, Erwinville, Marsh Island, Baton Rouge and Tallulah, and south of Lake Charles, La.

There were other reports of fragments falling at Hamilton and Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jackson, Miss., and as far west as Houston, Tex.

Some calling in said it streamed red behind; other reported green, but the CAA said atmospheric conditions could focus one color to some, another to others.

"It was as big as an automobile," said Richard Fallen of Monroe.

Another in the south end of town said it lighted up the ground below. A West Monroyan reported the same.

"I was watching television and it lighted up my living room," one Swartz caller said.

LIGHT STREAMS

Oscar Rash at the Star Drive-In said he thought someone had turned their car lights on behind him and turned to see "streams of brilliant light."

The AP at New Orleans said it reportedly hit the ground near Opelousas "shortly after 10."

The CAA said meteors break in the sky during certain seasons, but wasn't sure if this is the proper time for such activity.

Trailing streamers of red to some and green to others, it was reported southeast to Mobile and southwest to Fort Worth before sprinkling South Louisiana from Baton Rouge to Lafayette.

FAST AS LIGHTNING

Big as an automobile and fast as lightning, the meteor aroused the countryside as eyewitness reports swamped the State Police and newspaper offices from north to south Louisiana.

The CAA at Selman Field, who earlier in the night reported it was expecting star activity, said its first report came from Mobile. The State Police got its first report from El Dorado and Little Rock was heard by the City Police.

Descending as it rolled southwestward, it apparently broke into bits at Baton Rouge, Opelousas, Walker, Jackson, Lafayette and exploding in the Gulf near Marsh Island south of Abbeville.

"We were turning into our drive-way when a huge white light, like a ball of fire, appeared and seemed to be coming right at us. I put up my hands, because I thought it was going to hit the car. Then, it curved off in another direction, and I saw a huge tail of light burning behind it," was the way Mrs. Clyde Pohl, of 1300 South 5th street described what seems to have been a meteor, which appeared over Louisiana last night.

'LIT SKY'

L. L. LeJeune, of 1102 Natchitoches street in West Monroe, saw a huge ball of flame with a tail, coming down at a 30 degree angle toward the earth. "It lit up the whole sky for a few minutes, he related.

Mrs. Eunice Bush was at the drive-in when she saw huge ball of fire, streaking through the air toward Selman Field. Fearing it was a plane crash, she called authorities, but by then it had been identified as a meteor.

Jim Mulhearn of Sterlington was driving home at 9:50 p.m. when a green ball flashed across the horizon from the east to the west, and disappeared in about five seconds.

Burke Takes Lead At St. Pete

Tribe Bills Squad Baseball Scramble

An intra-squad game this afternoon will finish a week of work for the Northeast State baseball club as Coach George Laffey uses the squad scrap as a means of working toward his starting lineup for the opener of a 19-game schedule with Delta State here next Saturday afternoon. The squad tussle today begins at 1 o'clock on the Northeast diamond.

The Gulf States Conference opener will be with Northwestern State here April 5.

Coach Laffey has about 37 prospects seeking spots on his club which has only seven lettermen back from last year—pitchers Barr Taylor of Farmerville and Billy Joe Laird of Crowville; third baseman Harry Rushing, Pioneer; and outfielders, James Mock, Winnsboro; Ike McMullen, Monroe, and Mitchell Hughes, Bastrop. Mock was a pitcher last year.

Top prospects:

Pitchers — Jim Mahoney, Jackie Norman, Joseph Groves, Carroll George, Lyle Dorsey, Larry Clements, Laird, and Taylor.

Catchers — Guy Gannaway, Ray Hopper, Jim Laudadio, Cleborn Fails.

Shortstop — Ken Venable, Jack Cousino, John Freeman, Ronnie Walters.

Gulfstream's Chase Headed By Bardstown

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bardstown, Calumet farm's big hope for handicap honors this year, heads the list of nine prospective starters for the $15,000 added Appleton Handicap at Gulfstream Park today.

The 5-year-old colt whose last victory was in the $100,000 Widener last month, is coupled with Fabius, another Calumet hot shot.

This one mile and an eighth event is one of three stake races on tap. The others are the $25,000 Bowie Handicap and the $15,000 added Art Sparks Handicap for 3-year-olds and up at Bay Meadows.

Bardstown will carry top weight of 130 pounds in the "warmup" for next Saturday's $100,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap. His stiffest competition is expected to come from Everglades farm's Nance's Lad and Hasty House farm's Sea O'Erin. Fabius was last year's Preakness winner.

The field for the one mile and a sixteenth Bowie Handicap is headed by Dedicate, one of the top horses in the handicap ranks in 1956. Dedicate will shoulder high weight of 124 pounds.

Dedicate, with jockey Willie Boland aboard, may have to share the favorite's role with Paper Tiger, 117 pounds with Dick Lawless up. Dedicate took the measure of Summer Tan in the Hawthorne Gold Cup and Whitney Stakes last year. The son of Princequillo and Dini was unplaced in his only start this season, finishing sixth in a Hialeah sprint.

Eleven horses are scheduled to go to the post in the Bay Meadows' feature. Dino Lozzi's Count Chic will carry topweight of 120 pounds in the mile and a sixteenth competition.

Middlecoff, Cooper Trail By 1 Stroke

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (UP)—Jackie Burke Jr., playing his best golf since he won the 1956 Masters Tournament, pushed to the front by one stroke Friday in the second round of the $12,500 St. Petersburg Open.

The curly-haired professional from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., shot a three-under-par 68 in the early morning stillness for a 135 total at the end of 36 holes. Afternoon winds blew up again Friday and the first-day leaders—Gene Littler and Billy Casper Jr., both of San Diego—found a switch in starting times made birdies harder to get. Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., and Cary Middlecoff of Dallas also played in the morning calm and trailed Burke by one stroke.

Littler shot an even-par 71 to tie at 137 with Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; Paul Harney, Bolton, Mass.; Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., and Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa.

Despite collecting a bogey on the first hole Friday, Burke came in all smiles. He said he was putting better in this tournament, which he has won twice, than he has been all winter and the remainder of his shots were "down the alley."

A 66 was the best round of the day, fired by Middlecoff, Ford and Balding. Middlecoff's round was the most remarkable, for the former National Open champ sank five birdies on the back nine for a 30, the best nine holes of the tournament.

Middlecoff began a string of three birdies on the 1th hole with a 25-foot putt. He finished with birdies on the last two holes. On the 17th, he ran a 45-foot green shot downhill into the cup. Middlecoff won the St. Petersburg Open in 1955.

Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., produced the only blow-up of the day. The brightly-clad veteran went into the second round with a second-place 67 but finished the day with a 74 that left him tied with seven others at 141, far back of Burke's pace.

NO ZOMBIE—Roy Gammon, left, Southeastern State, Durant, Okla., seems to be putting on a zombie act, but he doesn't really have Tom Tracy of Northwest Nazarene, Nampa, Idaho, by the neck. Reason for strange-looking antics was the elusive ball. The Oklahomans won, 82-58, to move into second round of N.A.I.A. tourney at Kansas City.

Rebs Trip Tech In Ten, 5-2

RUSTON, La., March 15 (Special)—A three-run rally in the tenth inning after two were out gave University of Mississippi a 5-2 win over Louisiana Tech this afternoon.

The Tech Bulldogs had put across two in the eighth to tie the tussle at 2-2 and send the season opener for both teams into the extra inning. Ole Miss broke the deadlock by putting together four singles in the tenth by pitcher Buddy Wittichen, center fielder John Gainey, first baseman Bill Cooper, and shortstop Buddy Chain.

Mississippi opened the scoring in the second inning on a home run over the right field fence by third baseman Lea Paslay. The visiter added another in the fourth when Pasley walked, stole second, took third on a wild throw to second, and crossed the plate on a single by Billy Johnson.

That 2-0 lead held by the Rebs looked good enough to win the tilt until the Techsters pushed over two in the eighth. Bulldog second baseman Clyde Thompson opened the lower half of the eighth with a double, the second hit off Ole Miss to that point.

Tech center fielder Bob Shores followed with a single to score Thompson. Shores went to second on a sacrifice, and outfielder Doug Robertson drove him home with a single to tie the game.

Winning pitcher was Wittichen who gave up only four hits in going nine innings. Ralph Hunt hurled for Ole Miss in the tenth. The visiting Rebs got eight hits off four Tech hurlers. Jesse Mercer and Jim Knotts went three frames each, and Gene Barham and Doc Holder went two apiece. Holder was the loser.

The two teams meet here again Saturday afternoon in the second of their two-game series. Game time is 2:30.

Ike Chestnut Beats Cadill For TV Fans

NEW YORK, March 15 (UP)—Substitute Ike Chestnut's body attack turned the tables on Gil Cadill Friday night in their second fight at Madison Square Garden for a unanimous decision that made Chestnut an alternate in the forthcoming featherweight title tournament.

Chestnut of New York, who had lost a split decision to Cadilli of Los Angeles at Houston, Tex., last Oct. 30, forced the fighting in every one of the 10 rounds Friday and beat Gil's body like a drum. He also shook him several times with hooking combinations to the head.

Each weighed 129 3-4 pounds for the nationally televised and broadcast fight.

Although 26-year-old Chestnut accepted the bout on a week's notice, the betting was at even money. He substituted for Isidro Martinez of Panama, who withdrew because of intestinal influenza.

Matchmaker Billy Brown said, "Chestnut will be an alternate in the featherweight tournament in case anything happens to Hogan Bassey of Nigeria, who is slated for a bout outside the tourney on April 1."

Carmelo Costa of New York and Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico meet in the first elimination at the Garden next Friday night. That winner fights Bassey, and that winner meets Cherif Hamia of France for the 126-pound crown vacated recently by Sandy Saddler because of an eye injury.

The three ring officials favored Chestnut on a rounds basis as follows: Referee Mark Conn, 5-4-1; Judge Bert Grant 6-4, and Judge Frank Forbes, 6-3-1. The United Press agreed, 6-3-1.

23 Cindermen Of Tech Enter Ft. Worth Meet

RUSTON, La., March 15 (Special)—Twenty - three members of Louisiana Tech's track team left Ruston this morning for Ft. Worth, Tex., where the Bulldogs will participate in the Southwest Recreation Meet there Saturday. It will be Tech's first track action of the season.

Competition in the big Ft. Worth event will be especially tough as some of the top athletes of the southwest will be on hand for the day-long affair. Coach Jimmy Mize of Tech reports that he will enter 13 Techsters in the college division and 10 in the freshman division of the Southwest Recreation Meet.

Leading the Bulldogs in the meet will be three team captains who were recently selected. They are Gene Jantz, DeRidder, John Anderson, Quitman, and Roland Robertson, Mansfield. All three are senior lettermen.

First home track action for the Canine thinclads is slated for Tech Stadium Tuesday afternoon when the Bulldogs play host to Ouachita College of Arkadelphia, Ark., That meet will get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Tulane Defeats Spring Hill In Opener, 5 To 3

NEW ORLEANS, March 15 (AP)—Jules LaCoste collected three hits and drove in the winning run as Tulane opened its baseball season with a 5-3 victory over Spring Hill today.

LaCoste, a sophomore second baseman, had two doubless and a single. Doug Regan scored the winning run in the sixth inning. He singled with one out and came home on LaCoste's double to left center field.

Emile Marks, who allowed five hits and two runs in the first five innings, earned credit for the victory. Regan gave up three hits and one run.

Marion Nips West Monroe Rebs, 4-2

MARION, La., March 15 (Special) — Marion High crowded three runs across in the first inning and held to defeat the West Monroe Rebels, 4-2, on the baseball field here today.

The Rebs were held to three hits, all in the final frame, when Hallis had six innings of no-hit pitching spoiled by two straight singles by Bacon and Caldwell. Gilmore came to Hallis' relief and served up a double to Dailey that scored Bacon with the final Reb run. A pair of errors and a passed ball helped the invaders to a fourth inning run.

With one out, Miller walked and Spencer singled to open the game for Marion. W. Baker forced Spencer, and an infield hit by Andrews counted Miller. Gilmore singled Baker across, and Andrews scored on a passed ball. Marion scored once more in the sixth after Andrews and Gilmore forced Gilmore, setting Andrews up at third from where he scored on a passed ball.

TICKET SALES

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The Milwaukee Braves, the major league attendance leaders the past two seasons, have announced the sale of 1,040,000 tickets for the 1957 National League season. Last year the team sold 2,046,331 tickets, passing the two-million mark for the third time in four years.

New Set On Bowling Lanes

A fresh contengient of bowlers from over the state moves into Monroe today for the second weekend of the eleventh annual Louisiana Women's Handicap Tournament at Monroe Bowling Center.

Teams from half a dozen cities are due to get action today as they seek to overtake Melancon Plumbing of Houma which grabbed the lead in opening play last Saturday with 3,107 pins, a mark that will require some fine bowling to beat.

Doubles and singles will occupy most of Sunday's program.

Florence Rosenthal, Lafayette, is the current leader in singles and all-events. She posted a 720 series last Sunday to command the lead in singles, and her 1,927 was best in all-events competition.

The doubles lead is currently held by M. L. Aaron and D. Kasper, Shreveport, with a high 1,293.

The tournament is scheduled for five consecutive weekends here before champions in the various events will be determined.

Mumps Theatening Brooklyn's Dodgers

MIAMI, Fla., March 15 (AP)—The list of mumps-stricken Brooklyn Dodgers may be swelling.

Rookie third baseman Dick Gray, who has been one of Brooklyn's leading hitters this spring, complained of a sore throat today and was immediately bedded as a precautionary measure.

The Dodger officials have been mumps conscious since yesterday when Pete Christianson, pilot of team's private plane, was stricken and pitcher Roger Craig was confined to the infirmary at Vero Beach with mumps symptoms.

Tribe Bills Squad Baseball Scramble

An intra-squad game this afternoon will finish a week of work for the Northeast State baseball club as Coach George Luffey uses the squad scrap as a means of working toward his starting lineup for the opener of a 19-game schedule with Delta State here next Saturday afternoon. The squad tussle today begins at 1 o'clock on the Northeast diamond.

The Gulf States Conference opener will be with Northwestern State here April 5.

Coach Luffey has about 37 prospects seeking spots on his club which has only seven lettermen back from last year—pitchers Barr Taylor of Farmerville and Billy Joe Laird of Crowville; third baseman Harry Rushing, Pioneer; and outfielders, James Mock, Winnsboro; Ike McMullen, Monroe, and Mitchell Hughes, Bastrop. Mock was a pitcher last year.

Top prospects:

Pitchers — Jim Mahoney, Jackie Norman, Joseph Groves, Carroll George, Lyle Dorsey, Larry Clements, Laird, and Taylor.

Gulfstream's Chase Headed By Bardstown

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bardstown, Calumet farm's big hope for handicap honors this year, heads the list of nine prospective starters for the $15,000 added Appleton Handicap at Gulfstream Park today.

The 5-year-old colt whose last victory was in the $100,000 Widener last month, is coupled with Fabius, another Calumet hot shot.

This one mile and an eighth event is one of three stake races on tap. The others are the $25,000 Bowie Handicap and the $15,000 added Art Sparks Handicap for 3-year-olds and up at Bay Meadows.

Bardstown will carry top weight of 130 pounds in the "warmup" for next Saturday's $100,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap. His stiffest competition is expected to come from Everglades farm's Nance's Lad and Hasty House farm's Sea O'Erin. Fabius was last year's Preakness winner.

The field for the one mile and a sixteenth Bowie Handicap is headed by Dedicate, one of the top horses in the handicap ranks in 1956. Dedicate will shoulder high weight of 124 pounds.

Dedicate, with jockey Willie Boland aboard, may have to share the favorite's role with Paper Tiger, 117 pounds with Dick Lawless up. Dedicate took the measure of Summer Tan in the Hawthorne Gold Cup and Whitney Stakes last year. The son of Princequillo and Dini was unplaced in his only start this season, finishing sixth in a Hialeah sprint.

Eleven horses are scheduled to go to the post in the Bay Meadows' feature. Dino Lozzi's Count Chic will carry topweight of 120 pounds in the mile and a sixteenth competition.

Middlecoff, Cooper Trail By 1 Stroke

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (UP)—Jackie Burke Jr., playing his best golf since he won the 1956 Masters Tournament, pushed to the front by one stroke Friday in the second round of the $12,500 St. Petersburg Open.

The curly-haired professional from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., shot a three-under-par 68 in the early morning stillness for a 135 total at the end of 36 holes. Afternoon winds blew up again Friday and the first-day leaders—Gene Littler and Billy Casper Jr., both of San Diego—found a switch in starting times made birdies harded to get. Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., and Cary Middlecoff of Dallas also played in the morning calm and trailed Burke by one stroke.

Littler shot an even-par 71 to tie at 137 with Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; Paul Harney, Bolton, Mass.; Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., and Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa.

Despite collecting a bogey on the first hole Friday, Burke came in all smiles. He said he was putting better in this tournament, which he has won twice, than he has been all winter and the remainder of his shots were "down the alley."

A 66 was the best round of the day, fired by Middlecoff, Ford and Balding. Middlecoff's round was the most remarkable, for the former National Open champ sank five birdies on the back nine for a 30, the best nine holes of the tournament.

Middlecoff began a string of three birdies on the 1th hole with a 25-foot putt. He finished with birdies on the last two holes. On the 17th, he ran a 45-foot green shot downhill into the cup. Middlecoff won the St. Petersburg Open in 1955.

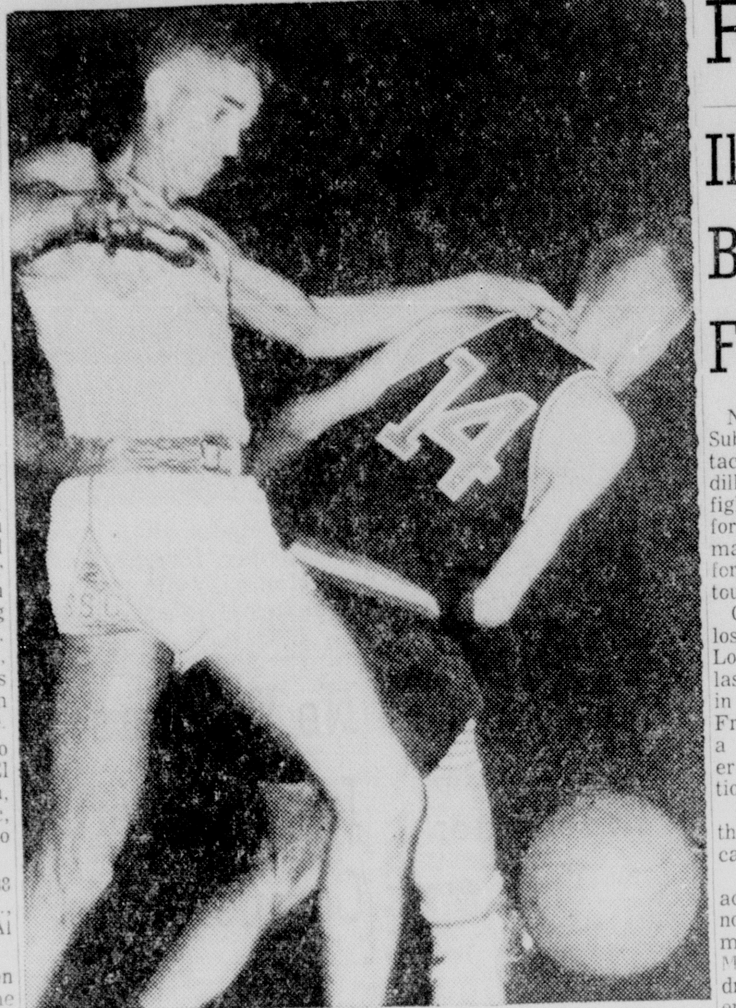
Presbyterian Coach Moving To Furman

GREENVILLE, S.C., March 15 (AP)—Bill Crutchfield, for the past three years head football coach at Presbyterian College at Clinton, S.C., has been named backfield coach at Furman University here.

Lyles Alley, Furman athletic director, announced the appointment today and said it would be effective July 1.



NO ZOMBIE—Roy Gammon, left, Southeastern State, Durant, Okla., seems to be putting on a zombie act, but he doesn't really have Tom Tracy of Northwest Nazarene, Nampa, Idaho, by the neck. Reason for strange-looking antics was the elusive ball. The Oklahomans won, 82-58, to move into second round of N.A.I.A. tourney at Kansas City.

Marion Nips West Monroe Rebs, 4-2

MARION, La., March 15 (Special) — Marion High crowded three runs across in the first inning and held to defeat the West Monroe Rebels, 4-2, on the baseball field here today.

The Rebs were held to three hits, all in the final frame, when Hallis had six innings of no-hit pitching spoiled by two straight singles by Bacon and Caldwell. Gilmore came to Hallis' relief and served up a double to Dailey that scored Bacon with the final Reb run. A pair of eerors and a passed ball helped the invaders to a fourth inning run.

With one out, Miller walked and Spencer singled to open the game for Marion. W. Baker forced Spencer, and an infield hit by Andrews counted Miller. Gilmore singled Baker across, and Andrews scored on a passed ball. Marion scored once more in the sixth after Andrews and Gilmore forced Gilmore, setting Andrews up at third from where he scored on a passed ball.

Mumps Theatening Brooklyn's Dodgers

MIAMI, Fla., March 15 (AP)—The list of mumps-stricken Brooklyn Dodgers may be swelling.

Rookie third baseman Dick Gray, who has been one of Brooklyn's leading hitters this spring, complained of a sore throat today and was immediately bedded as a precautionary measure.

The Dodger officials have been mumps conscious since yesterday when Pete Christianson, pilot of team's private plane, was stricken and pitcher Roger Craig was confined to the infirmary at Vero Beach with mumps symptoms.

Ike Chestnut Beats Cadill For TV Fans

NEW YORK, March 15 (UP)—Substitute Ike Chestnut's body attack turned the tables on Gil Cadill Friday night in their second fight at Madison Square Garden for a unanimous decision that made Chestnut an alternate in the forthcoming featherweight title tournament.

Chestnut of New York, who had lost a split decision to Cadilli of Los Angeles at Houston, Tex., last Oct. 30, forced the fighting in every one of the 10 rounds Friday and beat Gil's body like a drum. He also shook him several times with hooking combinations to the head.

Each weighed 129 3-4 pounds for the nationally televised and broadcast fight.

Although 26-year-old Chestnut accepted the bout on a week's notice, the betting was at even money. He substituted for Isidro Martinez of Panama, who withdrew because of intestinal influenza.

Matchmaker Billy Brown said, "Chestnut will be an alternate in the featherweight tournament in case anything happens to Hogan Bassey of Nigeria, who is slated for a bout outside the tourney on April 1."

Carmelo Costa of New York and Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico meet in the first elimination at the Garden next Friday night. That winner fights Bassey, and that winner meets Cherif Hamia of France for the 126-pound crown vacated recently by Sandy Saddler because of an eye injury.

The three ring officials favored Chestnut on a rounds basis as follows: Referee Mark Conn, 5-4-1; Judge Bert Grant 6-4, and Judge Frank Forbes, 6-3-1. The United Press agreed, 6-3-1.

TICKET SALES

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The Milwaukee Braves, the major league attendance leaders the past two seasons, have announced the sale of 1,040,000 tickets for the 1957 National League season. Last year the team sold 2,046,331 tickets, passing the two-million mark for the third time in four years.

RUSTON, La., March 15 (Special)—A three-run rally in the tenth inning after two were out gave University of Mississippi a 5-2 win over Louisiana Tech this afternoon.

The Tech Bulldogs had put across two in the eighth to tie the tussle at 2-2 and send the season opener for both teams into the extra inning. Ole Miss broke the deadlock by putting together four singles in the tenth by pitcher Buddy Wittichen, center fielder John Gainey, first baseman Bill Cooper, and shortstop Buddy Chain.

Mississippi opened the scoring in the second inning on a home run over the right field fence by third baseman Lea Paslay. The visiter added another in the fourth when Pasley walked, stole second, took third on a wild throw to second, and crossed the plate on a single by Billy Johnson.

That 2-0 lead held by the Rebs looked good enough to win the tilt until the Techsters pushed over two in the eighth. Bulldog second baseman Clyde Thompson opened the lower half of the eighth with a double, the second hit off Ole Miss to that point.

Tech center fielder Bob Shores followed with a single to score Thompson. Shores went to second on a sacrifice, and outfielder Doug Robertson drove him home with a single to tie the game.

Winning pitcher was Wittichen who gave up only four hits in going nine innings. Ralph Hunt hurled for Ole Miss in the tenth. The visiting Rebs got eight hits off four Tech hurlers. Jesse Mercer and Jim Knotts went three frames each, and Gene Barham and Doc Holder went two apiece. Holder was the loser.

The two teams meet here again Saturday afternoon in the second of their two-game series. Game time is 2:30.

23 Cindermen Of Tech Enter Ft. Worth Meet

RUSTON, La., March 15 (Special)—Twenty - three members of Louisiana Tech's track team left Ruston this morning for Ft. Worth, Tex., where the Bulldogs will participate in the Southwest Recreation Meet there Saturday. It will be Tech's first track action of the season.

Competition in the big Ft. Worth event will be especially tough as some of the top athletes of the southwest will be on hand for the day-long affair. Coach Jimmy Mize of Tech reports that he will enter 13 Techsters in the college division and 10 in the freshman division of the Southwest Recreation Meet.

Leading the Bulldogs in the meet will be three team captains who were recently selected. They are Gene Jantz, DeRidder, John Anderson, Quitman, and Roland Robertson, Mansfield. All three are senior lettermen.

First home track action for the Canine thinclads is slated for Tech Stadium Tuesday afternoon when the Bulldogs play host to Ouachita College of Arkadelphia, Ark., That meet will get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Tulane Defeats Spring Hill In Opener, 5 To 3

NEW ORLEANS, March 15 (AP)—Jules LaCoste collected three hits and drove in the winning run as Tulane opened its baseball season with a 5-3 victory over Spring Hill today.

LaCoste, a sophomore second baseman, had two doubless and a single. Doug Regan scored the winning run in the sixth inning. He singled with one out and came home on LaCoste's double to left center field.

Emile Marks, who allowed five hits and two runs in the first five innings, earned credit for the victory. Regan gave up three hits and one run.

Dick Oen went all the way for Spring Hill, giving up nine hits and nine walks. Tulane left 13 men on base.

New Set On Bowling Lanes

A fresh contengient of bowlers from over the state moves into Monroe today for the second week-end of the eleventh annual Louisiana Women's Handicap Tournament at Monroe Bowling Center.

Teams from half a dozen cities are due to get action today as they seek to overtake Melancon Plumbing of Houma which grabbed the lead in opening play last Saturday with 3,107 pins, a mark that will require some fine bowling to beat.

Doubles and singles will occupy most of Sunday's program.

Florence Rosenthal, Lafayette, is the current leader in singles and all-events. She posted a 720 series last Sunday to command the lead in singles, and her 1,927 was best in all-events competition.

The doubles lead is currently held by M. L. Aaron and D. Kasper, Shreveport, with a high 1,208.

The tournament is scheduled for five consecutive weekends here before champions in the various events will be determined.

A LA OLE CASE

Chisox May Check Yanks, Says Lopez

LAKELAND, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Al Lopez has been chasing Casey Stengel around the American League so long he's getting to sound like him. At least there's a bit of confusion when the new Chicago White Sox manager starts talking about "our fellas."

You have to listen close to figure out whether he means his new outfit or the Cleveland Indians be bossed for six seasons.

"Offensively, well, our fellas aren't like that Cleveland club that had Vic Wertz and Al Rosen and Larry Doby a few years ago. And let me tell you I'm glad to have Doby on my team again.

"But defensively this club is better than our fellas at Cleveland. Our fellas had that good pitching, but a lot of times we'd have to wait until someone got in a sock before we'd win a game."

How's the rest of the league going to knock off the Yankees?

"Well," mused Lopez, "look at what happened last season. They got off to a terrific start. Mantle was hitting .400 and Berra was at .370. Berra is a hitter around .300. And that Stengel had guys on that bench who could come up and hit that ball for you. They were all going good at the start.

"They talk about that trade the Yankees pulled with Kansas City and say it made the Yankees stronger. Well, I don't know. Stengel's taking a chance with Bobby Shantz. And that Art Ditmar's a good pitcher but he isn't a sure thing."

In nine years as a major and minor league manager, Lopez never has finished lower than second.

"Let me tell you this," he said. "We're not shooting for second. I think we can win it."

He paused like a man testing a new salad dressing.

"I really do," he said.

FORT WORTH, March 15 (UP)—Lowel Caddel and Larry Chase of Lubbock, Tex., teaming together for the first time, took the American Bowling Congress tournament doubles lead Friday.

Chase, a Brooklyn native stationed at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, shot 626 and Cadel 619 for a total of 1,245.

Chase was a last-minute substitute when a member of Cadel's team was unable to make the tournament trip.

E. A. Christensen of Lubbock, from the same team as Chase and Caddel, rolled 200-223-227—650 to tie for third in the singles.

Warns Against No-Windup By Young Hurlers

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 15 (UP)—Frank Shellenback, famed pitching coach of the New York Giants, warned the nation's young hurlers Friday against the no-windup delivery that gave Don Larsen of the Yankees a perfect game in the 1956 World Series.

"I don't think it's a style to monkey with," said Shellenback. "When you take away the windup, you sacrifice part of the body motion and the pitcher who throws entirely with his arm isn't going to last very long unless he is exceptionally big and strong."

As a result of the fantastic success achieved by Larsen and to a lesser degree by his teammate, Bob Turley, Shellenback predicts kids all over the country are going to try to copy the style. That goes not only for pros but the youngsters in college, school, American Legion, and Little League-type play.

"And a lot of guys like me are going to have to correct them.," said Frank.

"Any time I see a kid throwing with his arm, I show him how to use his body, and to use his body he has to have some windup," Shellenback added. "The windup also gives the pitcher motion and I know a lot of hitters who admit they often swing at a pitcher's motion."

The pitching professor of the Giants, whose invaluable tips played a significant part in the rise of Johnny Antonelli, cites Don Newcombe of the Dodgers as an example of what a windup can do for a big man with control.

"He can be more overpowering than any pitcher in the majors when he is right," said Shellenback of the Dodger ace who ran up 27 victories last season. "He not only has power but plenty of motion to add deception to his speed."

Manager Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phillies led the International League in hitting as a Buffalo outfielder with .340 in 1944.

By ED TUNSTALL

GULFPORT, Miss., March 15 (AP)—Professional Pat Abbott of Memphis, Tenn., pushed a 90-foot wedge shot for an eagle three today to take the second round lead in the $5,000 Gulf Coast Invitational Golf Tournament.

The graying Abbott, host professional at the Memphis Country Club, added a four - under - par 67 today to his first round 65 and moved one stroke in front of professionals Dick Metz of Pike Road, Ala., and former Western Open champions Johnny Revolta of nearby Gulf Hills, Miss.

Abbott, twice runner up in the National Amateur before turning pro 11 years ago, posted his eagle on the 470-yard dogleg 12th hole. He set his tee shot down the middleand his approach left him 90 feet off the green. His wedge shot took one bounce and dropped into the cup.

Metz, who set a record for the Great Southern Country Club's 6,006-yard course with a 72 62 in Thursday's first round, trailed off to par 71 today. The former Ryder Cup team member said he was off his putting game, "But you can't blame the course. Those greens were in great shape." He estimated he used "six or seven" putts more than the 28 he needed for his record-breaking first round.

Revolta tied Abbott for the day's low round, carding a 67 to tie Metz for the runner-up spot at 133. But unlike Metz, he said his putting was far better than his first round work on the green.

Walker Cup team member Dale Morey of Indianapolis, Ind., was the low amateur and took over fourth place with his second straight 68. Morey played in the same threesome with Metz and said he was bothered by a severe cold.

Metz, runner-up to Ralph Guldahl in the 1938 National Open, ran into several trouble spots today. He went one over par on the 26-yard dogleg ninth and had to take another bogey on the 515-yard 15th when his approach shot curved into the pine trees flanking the fairway.

The 45 - year - old Abbott had three birdies in addition to his eagle and ran into serious trouble only on the short third home. He went one over on the par-three 187-yard hole.

Big John Buzick of Monette, Ar low amateur after the first round with a 66, mushroomed to a 75 today and moved into a four-way tie at 141.

Trailing the top four were Scudday Horner of Montgomery, Ala., tournament winner here in 1948; and amateur Jimmy McGonagill of Shreveport, La., both showing 139. Horner followed his first round 70 with a 69 today, while McGonagill's 68 today clipped three strokes off his first round score.

The field was cut to the low 90 after today's round for the final two sessions Saturday and Sunday. The winning pro will collect $800, but the prestige from this event—termed the "National Open" for home professionals — is inestimable. Leading amateurs will share in $1,000 in golf equipment.

Hawks, Lakes Tangle Today On Television

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks and Minneaplois Lakers, the surprise teams of the National Basketball Association, meet in a one-game playoff for first place in the western division today.

The game will be nationally televised on the NBC network starting at 1:30 CST. St. Louis, the home club, won eight games and lost four against Minneapolis in the regular season.

The winner will draw a bye in the first round of the post-season playoffs while the losing team will play Fort Wayne in a best-of-three series.

The Hawks, runners-up most of the season, climaxed their pursuit of Fort Wayne by beating the Pistons 115-103 Thursday to clinch second place. The St. Louis comeback was made without the full services of Bob Pettit, who played with his fractured left arm in a cast during the last three weeks of the campaign.

Minneapolis also came on strong in the final month to deadlock Fort Wayne and St. Louis for the lead at the end of the regular 72-game schedule.

Meanwhile, playoffs in the eastern division get underway at Philadelphia tonight with the second place Syracuse Nationals taking on the injury-hampered Warriors. The Nats finished with a 7-5 regular season edge over third-place Philadelphia, which will take the court with both big guns, Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, hobbled by pulled leg muscles. This is a best-of-three series.

Whatever Arizin's performance in the playoffs, it cannot detract from his regular season showing. Final statistics released today revealed the former Villanova star captured the circuit's individual scoring championship for the second time.

Arizin wound up with 1,817 points and a 25,6 points a game average. He was followed by Pettit with 1,755 points, Dolph Schayes of Syracuse with 1,617, Johnston with 1,575 and George 1,547.

This marks the sixth time in 11 years a Philadelphia player has led the scorers. Joe Fulks did it in 1947, Arizin in 1952 and Johnston in 1953-54-55.

Dr. James S. Feurig, Michigan State team physician, played pro football with the Green Bay Packers 18 years ago.

AT HALFWAY MARK

Quast Slips, Wright Nabs Titleholders' Top Spot

By JACK SIMMS

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 15 (AP)—Lanky Mickey Wright, a long driving professional from San Diego, Calif., shot a steady 75 today to take a one-stroke lead over a record field at the halfway mark of the 72-hole Women's Titleholders Golf Championship.

The 22 - year - old west coast star was in second place with a 73 at the Start of the second round. Her 36-hole total of 148 put the 5-foot-9 blonde one stroke ahead of Wifti Smith, St. Clair, Mich., freshman pro, and veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miss Berg, six times winner of this tournament, covered the sun-soaked Augusta Country Club course in 71 strokes, one under men's par. She had a first round 78.

The first round leader, 19-year-old Anne Quast of Seattle Wash., soared to 78 and was tied with three others for fourth place at 150. The pert amateur, a University of Washington student, fired an unexpected 72 on the 6,290 - yard layout yesterday.

Others in the 49-player field with 150s were professional Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Ruth Jessen of Seattle, and Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., Miss Jessen had a second round 71 and the others 76s.

Miss Wright, third among money winners in the current Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour, didn't have a single birdie in the second round. She took bogeys on the par four first, seventh and 13th holes.

Susan Inman, junior at the University of North Carolina, got her first hole-in-one on the par three 14th hole. It was the first ace for the Brattleboro, Vt., amateur, who came in with an 81 or a 170 total.

The best rounds of the tournament were 71s by Miss Berg and Miss Jessen. Miss Berg, who has been troubled with sore leg muscles, said her long game was as good today as it has been in her 17 seasons as a professional. She had two birdies and a bogey on the front nine and a pair of each after the turn. Miss Jessen had three birdies and two bogeys.

Miss Smith, amateur leader here last year, three-putted the 18th green for the second straight time. The bogey today kept her from moving into a tie for first. After making the turn in one-under par 35, she drove out of bounds on the 10th and got down with a two over regulation six. She also bogeyed the 13th hole.

Defending champion Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., a three-time Titleholders winner, battled back into contention with a 74 after an opening round 77. Amateur Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, who had a 75, Beverly Hanson of Palm Desert, Calif., with a 73, and Kathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla., with a 74, were in a tie with Miss Suggs for eighth place with 151 totals.

The rain forecast for today didn't arrive. In its place were clear skies and a sun that brought temperatures of 86 degrees.

Trojan Passing Chicago Relays For Big Springs

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (UP)—University of Southern California announced Friday that little Max Truex, its ace distance runner, had been withdrawn from the Chicago relays for a rematch Saturday at Big Spring, Tex., with Polish refugee John Macy, Houston freshman.

Truex mastered Macy in the Milwaukee Journal games last week in the fast time of :56.7.

Southern Cal's Trojans go at Big Spring in a four-way track and field meet with Houston, Southern Methodist and Oklahoma A&M. The Truex-Macy duel, however, will not count in the team point totals but will be added as a special event.

Pirates Boasting Best Camp Record

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates continued their impressive showing in the spring training games yesterday as they downed Washington 5-1, limiting the Senators to three hits.

The victory was the Pirates' sixth in seven starts, giving them the best won-lost record in the exhibition season.

Ron Kline, Bennie Daniels and Luis Arroyo pitched for itsburgh with Kline and Daniels holding Washington hitless for the first five innings. The Senators scored their lone run off Arroyo in the seventh frame.

Washington's Camilio Pascual shut out the Pirates for six innings but weakened with two out in the seventh as Pittsburgh broke through for four runs. Singles by Lee Walls and Bob Skinner, sandwiched around Buddy Pritchard's double did the damage after Pascual issued two walks.

Cincinnati ran its exhibition record to 5-2 by edging Kansas City 4-3. Brooks Lawrence started for the Redlegs and gave up only two hits in five scoreless innings. Ted Kluszewski, still troubled with a hip ailment, made his spring debut for the Reds and hit a pinch single.

Hank Sauer belted a pair of three-run homers and Willie Mays added a home run with one on to lead the New York Giants to a 12-7 triumph over Clevelend. The loss was only the Indians' second in seven games. Herb Score absorbed the defeat for the Tribe.

Mickey Mantle, the major league triple crown winner in 1956, unleashed his first homer of the spring, but it came in a losing cause as his Yankees bowed to the Cardinals 7-4. The 425-foot blast hit lefthanded to the opposite field came with a runner on base in the fifth inning and put New York in front 4-1. St. Louis exploded for five runs off Tommy Byrne in the sixth inning.

Felix Mantilla's slow grounder to short with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning scored Jim Pendleton with the winning run as Milwaukee nipped Philadelphia 2-1. The run came off Robin Roberts after Curt Simmons had held the Braves scoreless for the first five innings. Stan Lopata accounted for the lone Phils' tally with a seventh-inning homer. the Chicago White Sox outlasted Detroit 1-12 as the Tigers suffered their fifth straight setback. Minnie Minoso clouted a pair of homers to bat in four runs and Walt Dropo swatted a three-run homer in the ninth and had five RBI's. Jim Small drove in six runs for Detroit with a homer and bases loaded triple.

Nats, Chisox Talk Trades; Minoso Bait

ORLANDO, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Talk of a possible Washington-Chicago trade increased today with an indication the White Sox might be willing to give up outfielder Minnie Minoso.

Chuck Comiskey, Chicago vice president, said yesterday he'd like to get outfielder-first baseman Roy Sievers and catcher Clint Courtney, a lefthanded hitter, from the Senators. And Comiskey was quoted today as saying he is willing to part with "any of last year's regular outfield except Lary Doby."

The White Sox have shown additional interest in veteran third sacker Eddie Yost, but Senators' president Calvin Griffith said the veteran infielder would not be included.

Griffith said he planned to speak with Comiskey again on Sunday but that any deal would be held up until Washington Manager Charlie Dressen hashes out the potentials with his coaches the next day. If anything is to develop, it could happen early next week.

Lesser players also would be involved, but neither Comiskey nor Griffith would identify them.

A LA OLE CASE

Chisox May Check Yanks, Says Lopez

LAKELAND, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Al Lopez has been chasing Casey Stengel around the American League so long he's getting to sound like him. At least there's a bit of confusion when the new Chicago White Sox manager starts talking about "our fellas." You have to listen close to figure out whether he means his new outfit or the Cleveland Indians be bossed for six seasons.

"This is a different sort of ball club than our fellas in Cleveland," said Lopez.

"Offensively, well, our fellas aren't like that Cleveland club that had Vic Wertz and Al Rosen and Larry Doby a few years ago. And let me tell you I'm glad to have Doby on my team again.

"But defensively this club is better than our fellas at Cleveland. Our fellas had that good pitching, but a lot of times we'd have to wait until someone got in a sock before we'd win a game."

How's the rest of the league going to knock off the Yankees?

"Well," mused Lopez, "look at what happened last season. They got off to a terrific start. Mantle was hitting .400 and Berra was at .370. Berra is a hitter around .300. And that Stengel had guys on that bench who could come up and hit that ball for you. They were all going good at the start.

"They talk about that trade the Yankees pulled with Kansas City and say it made the Yankees stronger. Well, I don't know. Stengel's taking a chance with Bobby Shantz. And that Art Ditmar's a good pitcher but he isn't a sure thing."

In nine years as a major and minor league manager, Lopez never has finished lower than second.

"Let me tell you this," he said. "We're not shooting for second. I think we can win it."

He paused like a man testing a new salad dressing.

Abbot Tops Gulf Coast Field

Metz On Skids With 71, Holds Second Place

GULFPORT, Miss., March 15 (AP)—Professional Pat Abbott of Memphis, Tenn., pushed a 90-foot wedge shot for an eagle three today to take the second round lead in the $5,000 Gulf Coast Invitational Golf Tournament.

Quast Slips, Wright Nabs Titleholders' Top Spot

By JACK SIMMS

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 15 (AP)—Lanky Mickey Wright, a long driving professional from San Diego, Calif., shot a steady 75 today to take a one-stroke lead over a record field at the halfway mark of the 72-hole Women's Titleholders Golf Championship.

The 22-year-old west coast star was in second place with a 73 at the Start of the second round. Her 36-hole total of 148 put the 5-foot-9 blonde one stroke ahead of Wiffi Smith, St. Clair, Mich., freshman pro, and veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miss Berg, six times winner of this tournament, covered the sun-soaked Augusta Country Club course in 71 strokes, one under men's par. She had a first round 78.

The first round leader, 19-year-old Anne Quast of Seattle Wash., soared to 78 and was tied with three others for fourth place at 150. The pert amateur, a University of Washington student, fired an unexpected 72 on the 6,290-yard layout yesterday.

Others in the 49-player field with 150s were professional Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Ruth Jessen of Seattle, and Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., Miss Jessen had a second round 71 and the others 76s.

Miss Wright, third among money winners in the current Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour, didn't have a single birdie in the second round. She took bogeys on the par four first, seventh and 13th holes.

Susan Inman, junior at the University of North Carolina, got her first hole-in-one on the par three 14th hole. It was the first ace for the Brattleboro, Vt., amateur, who came in with an 81 or a 170 total.

The best rounds of the tournament were 71s by Miss Berg and Miss Jessen. Miss Berg, who has been troubled with sore leg muscles, said her long game was as good today as it has been in her 17 seasons as a professional. She had two birdies and a bogey on the front nine and a pair of each after the turn. Miss Jessen had three birdies and two bogeys.

Miss Smith, amateur leader here last year, three-putted the 18th green for the second straight time. The bogey today kept her from moving into a tie for first. After making the turn in one-under par 35, she drove out of bounds on the 10th and got down with a two over regulation six. She also bogeyed the 13th hole.

Defending champion Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., a three-time Titleholders winner, battled back into contention with a 74 after an opening round 77. Amateur Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, who had a 75, Beverly Hanson of Palm Desert, Calif., with a 73, and Kathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla., with a 74, were in a tie with Miss Suggs for eighth place with 151 totals.

The rain forecast for today didn't arrive. In its place were clear skies and a sun that brought temperatures of 86 degrees.

Trojan Passing Chicago Relays For Big Springs

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (UP)—University of Southern California announced Friday that little Max Truex, its ace distance runner, had been withdrawn from the Chicago relays for a rematch Saturday at Big Spring, Tex., with Polish refugee John Macy, Houston freshman.

Truex mastered Macy in the Milwaukee Journal games last week in the fast time of :56.7.

Southern Cal's Trojans go at Big Spring in a four-way track and field meet with Houston, Southern Methodist and Oklahoma A&M. The Truex-Macy duel, however, will not count in the team point totals but will be added as a special event.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates continued their impressive showing in the spring training games yesterday as they downed Washington 5-1, limiting the Senators to three hits.

The victory was the Pirates' sixth in seven starts, giving them the best won-lost record in the exhibition season.

Ron Kline, Bennie Daniels and Luis Arroyo pitched for itsburgh with Kline and Daniels holding Washington hitless for the first five innings. The Senators scored their lone run off Arroyo in the seventh frame.

Washington's Camilio Pascual shut out the Pirates for six innings but weakened with two out in the seventh as Pittsburgh broke through for four runs. Singles by Lee Walls and Bob Skinner, sandwiched around Buddy Pritchard's double did the damage after Pascual issued two walks.

Cincinnati ran its exhibition record to 5-2 by edging Kansas City 4-3. Brooks Lawrence started for the Redlegs and gave up only two hits in five scoreless innings. Ted Kluszewski, still troubled with a hip ailment, made his spring debut for the Reds and hit a pinch single.

Hank Sauer belted a pair of three-run homers and Willie Mays added a home run with one on to lead the New York Giants to a 12-7 triumph over Clevelend. The loss was only the Indians' second in seven games. Herb Score absorbed the defeat for the Tribe.

Mickey Mantle, the major league triple crown winner in 1956, unleashed his first homer of the spring, but it came in a losing cause as his Yankees bowed to the Cardinals 7-4. The 425-foot blast hit lefthanded to the opposite field came with a runner on base in the fifth inning and put New York in front 4-1. St. Louis exploded for five runs off Tommy Byrne in the sixth inning.

Felix Mantilla's slow grounder to short with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning scored Jim Pendleton with the winning run as Milwaukee nipped Philadelphia 2-1. The run came off Robin Roberts after Curt Simmons had held the Braves scoreless for the first five innings. Stan Lopata accounted for the lone Phils' tally with a seventh-inning homer. the Chicago White Sox outlasted Detroit 1-12 as the Tigers suffered their fifth straight setback. Minnie Minoso clouted a pair of homers to bat in four runs and Walt Dropo swatted a three-run homer in the ninth and had five RBI's. Jim Small drove in six runs for Detroit with a homer and bases loaded triple.

Nats, Chisox Talk Trades; Minoso Bait

ORLANDO, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Talk of a possible Washington-Chicago trade increased today with an indication the White Sox might be willing to give up outfielder Minnie Minoso.

Chuck Comiskey, Chicago vice president, said yesterday he'd like to get outfielder-first baseman Roy Sievers and catcher Clint Courtney, a lefthanded hitter, from the Senators. And Comiskey was quoted today as saying he is willing to part with "any of last year's regular outfield except Lary Doby."

The White Sox have shown additional interest in veteran third sacker Eddie Yost, but Senators' president Calvin Griffith said the veteran infielder would not be included.

Griffith said he planned to speak with Comiskey again on Sunday but that any deal would be held up until Washington Manager Charlie Dressen hashes out the potentials with his coaches the next day. If anything is to develop, it could happen early next week.

Lesser players also would be involved, but neither Comiskey nor Griffith would identify them.

Princess Encores American Singer

LONDON, Mar. 15 (UP)—Princess Margaret paid her second visit in a week to the Cafe de Paris early this morning to hear American star Pearl Bailey sing that classic of unrequitted love, "My Man."

The Princess led the applause for the number but although many curious eyes watched her closely she seemed to be enjoying it simply as a rendition from one of her favorite artists rather than anything more personal.

She promptly stilled murmurs and nudging by laughing as loudly as anyone else at Miss Bailey's subsequent song about a saucy success story, the progress of a lady, if that is the word, "From Mouton to Muskrat to Mink."

There was a bit of backstage drama before the Princess slipped unobtrusively into a balcony table accompanied by her almost constant escort these days, Billy Wallace, and her girl friend Judy Montagu.

Miss Bailey has been suffering from an injured knee and she had been given so many pain killers and antibiotics that half an hour before she was due on stage she was still trying to shake herself awake.

About this time the cabaret received word the Princess was coming to hear Miss Bailey for a second time — a rare mark of royal favor.

"I only just made it honey," chuckled the singer who announces herself as a member of the chamber of commerce of Apple Valley, Calif. "But everybody was sure in a panic."

18 Known Dead In Train Wreck

IITTALA, Finland, Mar 15 (UP)—Two express trains collided head-on in a snowstorm near here today. The death and casualty toll was heavy.

By noon at least 18 bodies had been found in the splintered wreckage. At least 50 persons were reported injured, 30 seriously.

A company of soldiers was helping rescue teams search the twisted and telescoped cars for victims.

Cop Suspended For Allegedly Accepting Bribe

CLARKSDALE, Mar. 15 (AP)—Mayor John C. Newman said today he has suspended police officer Van McLaughlin, 48, charged yesterday with "accepting a bribe or gift."

Newman indicated the charge against McLaughlin, which was brought by Coahoma County Attorney Howard Woodward, is not related to the sudden resignations this week of two other police officers.

The mayor said officer W. M. McNeer resigned by telegram yesterday from Durant, Miss., citing "reasons of health," and that police identification officer Frank Jeffries resigned Tuesday. Newman said Jeffries resigned "when confronted with information the police chief had on another police officer's actions.

DBS Plan Show For Veterans Hospital Members Leave Tomorrow For Alexandria

For its first full-scale project of the spring season, Delta Beta Sigma Sorority has chosen to entertain the hospitalized veterans at the Veterans Hospital in Alexandria, Louisiana. The girls have planned organized and practiced for weeks to put together a really entertaining show and this Sunday they plan to put it "on the road." Leaving early Sunday morning by chartered busses, a majority of the 111 active members of DBS will take their 24 original acts, dozens of cookies and a wealth of cheer to the patients in Alexandria.

Director of the show is Ann Youngblood assisted by Linda Lavendar with Steward Hill, Ideal Brother of the Sorority, as master-of-ceremonies. Furnishing music for the event and also presenting several selections as their own contribution to the program will be Jack White and his Red Men of Northeast Louisiana State College.

Musical Selections by Jack White and his Red Men.

Toe Dance: Bobby June Moore.

Reading: Jimmie Bell Elliot.

Suddenly There is a Valley: Theta Rose Pettigrew.

Tap Dance: Linda Lavendar.

If I Loved You: Theta Rose Pettigrew and Bennett Humphries.

Modern Jazz Dance: Patsy Cooper.

Accompanying them on the trip will be Mrs. Thomas Youngblood, Mrs. P. Richard Pierce, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, Mrs. George Fink, and Mrs. H. G. McDonald.

Mrs. Jesse Webb Hostess To Homemakers

Mrs. Jesse Webb was hostess to the Thrifty Homemakers Home Demonstration Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Kenneth Lee presided during the business meeting. Reports were given on Clothing, Family Life and Food Preservation.

Attending were Mrs. W. J. Thomas, Mrs. Lathan Williams, Mrs. L. E. Douthit, Mrs. Kenneth Lee, Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Jr., and two new members, Mrs. C. B. Reynolds and Mrs. George Screpetis.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

We Can Accept Neighbor's Behavior Without Adopting It

By MYRTHE MEYER ELDRED

Some neighbors are hot-tempered and noisy. Some are calm and quiet. Some are full of prejudices, some quite free from them. Some bring up their children by the book, some let them run wild. You can't make them all alike, nor would you want them to be. All you can do, as a person, is to live with them amiably.

This means, also, to respect your right as an individual to do what you think is best and at the same time allow your neighbor the same privilege.

Envied Neighbor

In my childhood (a circumscribed one, because I was an only child) I heartily envied the moonshine existence of one of our neighbors. Instead of sitting down to dinner at 6 p.m. — which was the sacred hour in our home — they took off to parts unknown, just ambling, deciding as they went where they might eat.

Instead of the regular dinner of meat, potatoes, vegetables, salad and dessert which was our lot—they ate, on occasion, just pancakes. I can see them yet, a tall stack of them being kept warm in the oven with butter melting from between them and great gobs of brown sugar as covering. As you can see, I have never forgotten them, or the family.

When I was grown I visited the daughter who was near my age and she was the same unorthodox housekeeper as her mother. I arrived at 10 in the morning and I had not one bite of food until 9 that night. And no explanations, either. I starved and marveled, that anyone could be so nonchalant.

We have to admit that we all are different. We do everything one way, our neighbor another. But we can appreciate and enjoy her and still have no desire to imitate her ways.

We should bring up our children in the same spirit. Not full of carping criticism for individual differences, but trying to understand them and appreciate them.

Not tolerance (that cold word) for the neighbor who lets her children stay up until 11, when ours go to bed at eight — but acceptance of the fact that maybe her children need less sleep than ours.

Anyway, it is her affair and not ours to interfere or to criticize, but to hew our own paths and follow them as our best judgment dictates.

If you would like our leaflet "How to Be a Good Parent," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 86 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

DBS Plan Show For Veterans Hospital Members Leave Tomorrow For Alexandria

For its first full-scale project of the spring season, Delta Beta Sigma Sorority has chosen to entertain the hospitalized veterans at the Veterans Hospital in Alexandria, Louisiana. The girls have planned organized and practiced for weeks to put together a really entertaining show and this Sunday they plan to put it "on the road." Leaving early Sunday morning by chartered busses, a majority of the 111 active members of DBS will take their 24 original acts, dozens of cookies and a wealth of cheer to the patients in Alexandria.

Director of the show is Ann Youngblood assisted by Linda Lavendar with Steward Hill, Ideal Brother of the Sorority, as master-of-ceremonies. Furnishing music for the event and also presenting several selections as their own contribution to the program will be Jack White and his Red Men of Northeast Louisiana State College.

Toe Dance: Bobby June Moore.

Reading: Jimmie Bell Elliot.

Suddenly There is a Valley: Theta Rose Pettigrew.

Tap Dance: Linda Lavendar.

If I Loved You: Theta Rose Pettigrew and Bennett Humphries.

Baton Twirling: Betty Mantrozos, Sara Smith and Brenda Ringo.

Tap dance: Ginger Donald.

Modern Jazz Dance: Patsy Cooper.

Accompanying them on the trip will be Mrs. Thomas Youngblood, Mrs. P. Richard Pierce, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, Mrs. George Fink, and Mrs. H. G. McDonald.

Mrs. Jesse Webb Hostess To Homemakers

Mrs. Jesse Webb was hostess to the Thrifty Homemakers Home Demonstration Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Kenneth Lee presided during the business meeting. Reports were given on Clothing, Family Life and Food Preservation.

Attending were Mrs. W. J. Thomas, Mrs. Lathan Williams, Mrs. L. E. Douthit, Mrs. Kenneth Lee, Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Jr., and two new members, Mrs. C. B. Reynolds and Mrs. George Screpetis.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. George Screpetis.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

We Can Accept Neighbor's Behavior Without Adopting It

By MYRTHE MEYER ELDRED

Every neighborhood is a small cross section of the world's people. Economic similarities bring a particular group of people to a particular neighborhood, but right there their similarities will end.

Some neighbors are hot-tempered and noisy. Some are calm and quiet. Some are full of prejudices, some quite free from them. Some bring up their children by the book, some let them run wild. You can't make them all alike, nor would you want them to be. All you can do, as a person, is to live with them amiably.

This means, also, to respect your right as an individual to do what you think is best and at the same time allow your neighbor the same privilege.

Envied Neighbor

In my childhood (a circumscribed one, because I was an only child) I heartily envied the moonshine existence of one of our neighbors. Instead of sitting down to dinner at 6 p.m. — which was the sacred hour in our home — they took off to parts unknown, just ambling, deciding as they went where they might eat.

Instead of the regular dinner of meat, potatoes, vegetables, salad and dessert which was our lot—they ate, on occasion, just pancakes. I can see them yet, a tall stack of them being kept warm in the oven with butter melting from between them and great gobs of brown sugar as covering. As you can see, I have never forgotten them, or the family.

When I was grown I visited the daughter who was near my age and she was the same unorthodox housekeeper as her mother. I arrived at 10 in the morning and I had not one bite of food until 9 that night. And no explanations, either. I starved and marveled, that anyone could be so nonchalant.

We have to admit that we all are different. We do everything one way, our neighbor another. But we can appreciate and enjoy her and still have no desire to imitate her ways.

We should bring up our children in the same spirit. Not full of carping criticism for individual differences, but trying to understand them and appreciate them. Not tolerance (that cold word) for the neighbor who lets her children stay up until 11, when ours go to bed at eight — but acceptance of the fact that maybe her children need less sleep than ours.

Anyway, it is her affair and not ours to interfere or to criticize, but to hew our own paths and follow them as our best judgment dictates.

If you would like our leaflet "How to Be a Good Parent," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 86 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Club Theme Chosen For Coming Year

Bouquets of red and white camellias decorated the home of Mrs. J. E. Baugh on North Third street, Wednesday afternoon, when the Monroe Literary Club met.

Mrs. J. D. Kelly introduced Mrs. A. M. Kite, who gave a delightful book review on "So Near and Yet So Far," by Emily Kimbrough. Miss Kimbrough's book is a fascinating story of the reactions of a group of out-of-state women who recently visited South Louisiana. An interesting sidelight was the fact that many club members were personally acquainted with individuals portrayed in the book.

Mrs. A. B. Colmer, president, presided over the business session. "Open Mind" was selected as the club's theme for the coming year. Mrs. Harry E. Dixon, Jr. was elected as a new member.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Baugh served refreshments to the guests: Mrs. Louise Lockwood, Mrs. L. J. Hulin, Mrs. Lee Herron and Mrs. Jack Baugh, and to the following club members: Mrs. D. A. Altick, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. J. H. Drake, Mrs W. L. Howard, Mrs. J. D. Kelly, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. Walter Koch, Mrs. B. F. Pate, Mrs. B. M. Phillips, Mrs. H. E. Rivers, and Mrs. B. O. Yeldell.

WHY GROW OLD

We Must Guard Outer Coating

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Your complexion may have suffered some from the winter winds. However, right now when temperatures are temperamental, changing from low to high and vice versa with no notice, we must take special care of our outer coating.

If you feel that you are somewhat dried out from the blustery weather and overheated houses, try using cleansing cream instead of soap and water for a while. Also treat your skin to more than your usual application of lubricating cream. You will find the hormone creams and oils helpful, too.

Even if you never have used a make-up base, try one for this changeable season. You can get a base which is oily which will keep the skin pliable.

Remember, too, that your vitamin intake may have been lower during the past few months because there is less variety in fresh fruits and vegetables. While we can get these frozen or canned we are more likely to consume more when the season is lush. Vitamin deficiency is one reason for excessively dry skin.

Elbows and Heels

This is also the time to do a bit of reconditioning on your elbows and heels. Unless you have taken very good care of them they probably have some rough skin. Each night use soap and water and a rough cloth on them. This will help get rid of the dead cells.

Lemon juice is a good bleach if your elbows are darkened. Apply this and leave it on until it dries. Then wash it off.

For a month now why not massage a good cream or lotion into the elbows and heels each night after your bath? This will soften also cream your heels and elbows and then, while you sleep, wear the mitts mads especially for that purpose. Before we know it summer will be here and with it our heels and elbows will make their debut after long cold months.

YOUR PROBLEMS

'Switchman's Picnic' Not Way To Settle Marital Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband had been seeing a married woman for 10 years. It's true that the wife is always the last one to find out. I learned of it just seven months ago.

I went to see this woman's husband and was shocked to find that he had known about the affair from the beginning. He decided to do nothing because their four children needed a mother.

He seemed so kind and sweet I couldn't help but admire him. A week later I phoned to talk some more. Well, Ann, if you haven't guessed by now I'll tell you — we fell in love.

My three kids like him better than their own dad. He buys them things and takes them to ball games and on fishing trips. He wants to divorce his wife and marry me. But here's the catch — now that my husband knows about us he's lost interest in the other woman He's promised to behave himself if I'll stop doing to him what he did to me for 10 years.

Please tell me what to do. I feel that I'm entitled to some happiness but I'm so confused I can't thinb straight anymore. Help me, please. — Celia.

Stop seeing this man at once. Tell him to go home and pay some attention to his wife and take his own kids to ball games and on fishing trips.

This "switchman's picnic" is immoral and indecent. Both you and your husband have plenty to forgive and forget. Wipe the slates clean and try to make something of your marriage. There are seven children involved in your crazy mixed - up shenanigans. They're entitled to some consideration See that they get it.

Dear Ann: My mother and I talked my step - dad into having his teeth extracted. The doctor told him his teeth should have come out years ago. So we finally convinced him.

Now we're having real trouble. His new dentures cost a fortune and they look terrible. They're unbecoming and he refuses to wear them. Mom is having a fit and he claims he was better off with what he had.

He's been back to the dentist three times and each adjusment is worse than the last. The dentist is fed up with him and we are sick of the whole mess. If you can offer any advice to restore peace and quiet to our home we'd be grateful. —A and B

If you bought two dozen eggs and discovered they were rotten would you use them anyway? Why insist that the poor guy wear teeth that aren't right just because they're paid for?

He made a bad investment and the thing to do is admit it and try again. Insist that Dad go to another dentist and get a new set of dentures made. To sit around and sulk in toothless silence makes very little sense — like none at all.

Dear Ann: I am 13-years-old and have been confrented with an embarassing problem many times. Maybe you can help me.

My parents often ask me to call up friends for both business and social reasons and I'm supposed to get them on the line until my parents get to the phone. This makes me feel foolish as I can't always think up things to say to fill in the silence.

My folks say they do plenty of things for me and it won't kill me to do them a few favors. Is it right to put me in a spot like this? I will accept your decision. —Sad Secretary.

The way to develop poise is to be put in a spot where you'll need it. It's always a joy (and sometimes a shock) to run into teenagers who can speak to adults in a courteous and sensible way. This is wonderful training so accept the challenge without complaint.

Confidentially: Mr. Unhappy: Quit beating yourself on the head. You know where you've failed, now do something about it.

Plenty Worried: There's no such thing as a "secret pregnancy" — for long, that is. Tell your mother at once and see the Family Service Bureau. They are big-hearted and wonderful.

Abused Wife: Married seven months and already getting shiners? Go back to the clergyman who married you and ask him to talk to you both.

(Ann Landers will be happy to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Club Theme Chosen For Coming Year

Bouquets of red and white camellias decorated the home of Mrs. J. E. Baugh on North Third street, Wednesday afternoon, when the Monroe Literary Club met.

Mrs. J. D. Kelly introduced Mrs. A. M. Kite, who gave a delightful book review on "So Near and Yet So Far," by Emily Kimbrough. Miss Kimbrough's book is a fascinating story of the reactions of a group of out-of-state women who recently visited South Louisiana. An interesting sidelight was the fact that many club members were personally acquainted with individuals portrayed in the book.

Mrs. A. B. Colmer, president, presided over the business session. "Open Mind" was selected as the club's theme for the coming year. Mrs. Harry E. Dixon, Jr. was elected as a new member.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Baugh served refreshments to the guests: Mrs. Louise Lockwood, Mrs. L. J. Hulin, Mrs. Lee Herron and Mrs. Jack Baugh, and to the following club members: Mrs. D. A. Altick, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. J. H. Drake, Mrs W. L. Howard, Mrs. J. D. Kelly, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. Walter Koch, Mrs. B. F. Pate, Mrs. B. M. Phillips, Mrs. H. E. Rivers, and Mrs. B. O. Yeldell.

Two Hostesses Entertain Women's Club

Mrs. Lonez Shipman and Mrs. H. E. Reagan were March hostesses to the Baskin Women's Club.

Delegates elected to attend the state convention in Baton Rouge April 4-6 were Mrs. R. P. Stewart and Mrs. H. E. Reagan.

Mrs. Dudley Odom and Mrs. Wilmer Penton were welcomed as guests at the meeting.

Attending were Mrs. R. E. Roark, Mrs. Lucille Black, Mrs. J. W. Jarrette, Mrs. W. L. Browder, Mrs. Reagan, Mrs. J. P. Frellsen, Mrs. Mary E. LeFevre, Mrs. C M. Eppinette, Mrs. W. H. Jones, Mrs. T. A. Wiggington, Mrs. Shipman, Miss Hattie Brothers, Mrs N. A. Miller, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. Ella Womble, Mrs. Janie Goforth, Miss Kathlyn Goforth, Mrs. Dudley Odom and Mrs. Wilmer Penton.

Two Bridge Clubs Meet In Oak Grove

The 4 Leaf Clover and the Emanon bridge clubs of Oak Grove met last week with Mrs. Ruth Hankins winning the high score, the traveling and honor prizes when the 4 Leaf Clover Club met with Mrs. A. R. McKee.

Also playing were Mrs. Ada Lee, Mrs. Essie Leach, Miss Opal Moss, Mrs. George Rundel, Mrs. George Newman, Mrs. C. A. McCabe and Mrs. Primm.

Mrs. Dorothy Lyon was the hostess to the Emanon Club on Friday evening Mrs. E. L. McCormick was high score winner with Mrs. A. B. Smith, second high. Mrs. J. D. McIntosh had low score and the hostess won the honor prize.

The guests were Mrs. Joe Kelly, Mrs. Olive Primm, Mrs. Harry Roundtree, Jr. and Mrs. Ellis Womack.

RETURNED TO LA.

FERRIDAY, Mar. 15 (Specitl) Percy Leroy Freeman, 21, of Pine Ridge, Miss., has been picked up by Miss., officers in Natchez for Concordia parish Sheriff Noah W. Cross on a warrant charging him on a bad check count. Freeman waived extradition and was turned over to the Louisiana authorities.

WHY GROW OLD

We Must Guard Outer Coating

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Your complexion may have suffered some from the winter winds. However, right now when temperatures are temperamental, changing from low to high and vice versa with no notice, we must take special care of our outer coating.

If you feel that you are somewhat dried out from the blustery weather and overheated houses, try using cleansing cream instead of soap and water for a while. Also treat your skin to more than your usual application of lubricating cream. You will find the hormone creams and oils helpful, too.

Even if you never have used a make-up base, try one for this changeable season. You can get a base which is oily which will keep the skin pliable.

Remember, too, that your vitamin intake may have been lower during the past few months because there is less variety in fresh fruits and vegetables. While we can get these frozen or canned we are more likely to consume more when the season is lush. Vitamin deficiency is one reason for excessively dry skin.

Elbows and Heels

This is also the time to do a bit of reconditioning on your elbows and heels. Unless you have taken very good care of them they probably have some rough skin. Each night use soap and water and a rough cloth on them. This will help get rid of the dead cells.

Lemon juice is a good bleach if your elbows are darkened. Apply this and leave it on until it dries. Then wash it off.

For a month now why not massage a good cream or lotion into the elbows and heels each night after your bath? This will soften also cream your heels and elbows and then, while you sleep, wear the mitts mads especially for that purpose. Before we know it summer will be here and with it our heels and elbows will make their debut after long cold months.

Julie Harris' Performance Is Enchanting

By WALTER WINCHELL

The exalted fervor of Julie Harris' performance in "The Lark" enchanted tv reviewers, who echoed the enthusiasm of drama critics. However, artistic triumphs generally have crude origins. There was dark anguish before bright glory for Miss Harris. When the drama tried out in Boston the strain of the massive role caused the loss of her voice. In addition.

There was dark anguish before turmoil. Panic was the result. The sheer terror of the challenge caused the star to break down and sob. Later she confided: "I felt as though I were climbing a mountain and I was bruised and hurt" . . .The ascent is always difficult. Nevertheless, there are hundreds pressing upwards—for the pinnacle is glorious.

Stage - fright is not confined to amateurs. The greatest of them are at its mercy. During a tryout of a show Edward G Robinson once drew a blank and was unable to remember his lines. . .Two nights before "South Pacific's" premiere, Met star Ezio Pinza was gripped by a severe case of jitters. During a run-through of the show Pinza was so nervous he couldn't be heard beyond the fifth row. The producers and backers were terrified. They expected a disaster. However, on opening night Pinza was triumphant . . . You can always depend on a pro in the clutch. . . They are at their best when obstacles are toughest.

Playwright Ben Hecht has described the rigors of premiers: "Opening night has the effect of a mugging on you. It's a social art, like getting kicked out of a restaurant. Once I thought I was pretty calm. Someone bumped into me and I fell over. I remember saving Charlie MacArthur's life at the opening of "The Front Page', He started to lean against a door in the balcony that wasn't there. Now I stay backstage. Actors are charming and I might as well be executed in good company."

God, Send Someone!

By Dick Sullivan

A Welder Of Stoneham, Mass.

At 4:00 p.m., on June 14, 1955, my brother Jack Sullivan was just crawling down into a 10-foot-deep trench, which ran down the center of Washington Street, a main thoroughfare in West Roxbury, Massachusetts.

It was Jack's job to weld the joints of a new water main. Half way through he stood up to get the kinks out of his legs. Jack stretched, turned towards the pipe, pulled down the shield again. And then it happened.

In Kneeling Position

Jack was rammed against the pipe with the force of a sledge hammer. He went down, buried in a kneeling position; his shield slammed against the pipe; his nose flattened out against the inside of the shield.

His nose began to pain him. It was bleeding. He couldn't move his head.

It crossed Jack's mind that he might die.

Slowly he began to pray. Going to Mass at St. Patrick's once a week suddenly seemed quite inadequate. My brother continued to pray. He had his eyes open. It was black.

One Hand Free

He tried to scratch around with his hand to open up an air passage down his arm. But the weight of the earth was too great. It didn't do any good.

Then it occurred to him that he'd been holding the welding lead in that hand. So he fished around with his fingers. He found the rod, still in the holder. He grasped it tightly and moved it, hoping it would strike the pipe.

Suddenly his wrist jerked and he knew he had struck an arc — the electric current would be making its bright orange flash. So he kept on tapping the pipe, making an arc, hoping it would draw attention.

Could Only Hope

"That must look like something," Jack thought to himself. "A hand reaching out of the ground striking an arc against the pipe. That must really look like something."

He figured there wasn't anything to do but lie there and wait and keep tapping flashes, and hope enough air filtered into the mask to keep him alive. . .there wasn't anything to do but lie there and pray. . .God, send someone . . .someone. . .

In another part of Boston, out on Route 128, Jack's assistant, Tommy Whittaker, quit his work for the day. Whittaker and Jack had known each other for over 15 years and were close friends.

Tommy Whittaker did not know that Jack was on the Washington Street job. Whittaker got in his truck and started off down Route 128 with the full intention of driving directly home.

Had A Feeling

But as Whittaker drove, he began to have the feeling that something wasn't right.

He tried to shake the feeling off. He kept driving. The strange and inexplainable sensation grew. He thought that he ought to drive up to the Washington Street job and check it. He dismissed the idea. It meant driving six miles out of his way at the peak of the rush hour.

He did not try to explain it to himself. He just turned.

Meanwhile, Jack continued to pray. It was the same simple prayer: "God, send someone."

Stopped to Chat

Tommy Whittaker drove along Washington Street. The job was divided into two sections. He stopped his truck at a spot several blocks away from the cave-in, got out. He chatted with an engineer for the Metropolitan District Commission for 15 minutes. The time was 5:45 p.m.

Whittaker got into his truck, said goodbye to his friend, and started up again. He reached a stop light. It was his turn-off to get back to 128 by a short cut. If he stayed on Washington Street, he'd have to go still farther out of his way. Tommy Whittaker braked his truck for a brief instant, then continued on up Washington.

Whittaker arrived at the spot where his friend was dying. Nothing seemed unusual. He noticed the stake-body truck. But it was a truck that Sullivan never used.

Sees the Hand

Then Tommy Whittaker saw the hand. . .the hand moved.

"Oh, God!" he whispered.

Whittaker jumped down into the trench and began to dig. He uncovered a wrist watch. He thought he recognized the watch band. He kept digging, until he uncovered the man's side. He saw the man was still breathing; the respiration was very weak.

Then Tommy Whittaker recognized my brother. Jack had fainted. Whittaker dug more frantically.

A Powerful Word

Jack revived slightly when they put him on a stretcher. It was 6:30 p.m. He spied Tommy Whittaker. "Who found me?" he asked.

"I did," said Whittaker.

With his lips, Jack formed one word.

"Thanks."

There was no more powerful word than that.

The gnawing sensation that had been bothering Thomas Whittaker went away.

Julie Harris' Performance Is Enchanting

By WALTER WINCHELL

The exalted fervor of Julie Harris' performance in "The Lark" enchanted tv reviewers, who echoed the enthusiasm of drama critics. However, artistic triumphs generally have crude origins. There was dark anguish before bright glory for Miss Harris. When the drama tried out in Boston the strain of the massive role caused the loss of her voice. In addition.

There was dark anguish before turmoil. Panic was the result. The sheer terror of the challenge caused the star to break down and sob. Later she confided: "I felt as though I were climbing a mountain and I was bruised and hurt" . . .The ascent is always difficult. Nevertheless, there are hundreds pressing upwards—for the pinnacle is glorious.

Stage - fright is not confined to amateurs. The greatest of them are at its mercy. During a tryout of a show Edward G Robinson once drew a blank and was unable to remember his lines. . .Two nights before "South Pacific's" premiere, Met star Ezio Pinza was gripped by a severe case of jitters. During a run-through of the show Pinza was so nervous he couldn't be heard beyond the fifth row. The producers and backers were terrified. They expected a disaster. However, on opening night Pinza was triumphant . . . You can always depend on a pro in the clutch. . . They are at their best when obstacles are toughest.

Playwright Ben Hecht has described the rigors of premiers: "Opening night has the effect of a mugging on you. It's a social art, like getting kicked out of a restaurant. Once I thought I was pretty calm. Someone bumped into me and I fell over. I remember saving Charlie MacArthur's life at the opening of "The Front Page', He started to lean against a door in the balcony that wasn't there. Now I stay backstage. Actors are charming and I might as well be executed in good company."

God, Send Someone!

By Dick Sullivan

A Welder Of Stoneham, Mass.

At 4:00 p.m., on June 14, 1955, my brother Jack Sullivan was just crawling down into a 10-foot-deep trench, which ran down the center of Washington Street, a main thoroughfare in West Roxbury, Massachusetts.

It was Jack's job to weld the joints of a new water main. Half way through he stood up to get the kinks out of his legs. Jack stretched, turned towards the pipe, pulled down the shield again. And then it happened.

In Kneeling Position

Jack was rammed against the pipe with the force of a sledge hammer. He went down, buried in a kneeling position; his shield slammed against the pipe; his nose flattened out against the inside of the shield.

His nose began to pain him. It was bleeding. He couldn't move his head.

It crossed Jack's mind that he might die.

Slowly he began to pray. Going to Mass at St. Patrick's once a week suddenly seemed quite inadequate. My brother continued to pray. He had his eyes open. It was black.

One Hand Free

Something cool crossed his right hand. He wiggled his fingers. They moved freely. His right hand had not been buried. He moved the hand again.

He tried to scratch around with his hand to open up an air passage down his arm. But the weight of the earth was too great. It didn't do any good.

Then it occurred to him that he'd been holding the welding lead in that hand. So he fished around with his fingers. He found the rod, still in the holder. He grasped it tightly and moved it, hoping it would strike the pipe.

Suddenly his wrist jerked and he knew he had struck an arc — the electric current would be making its bright orange flash. So he kept on tapping the pipe, making an arc, hoping it would draw attention.

Could Only Hope

"That must look like something," Jack thought to himself. "A hand reaching out of the ground striking an arc against the pipe. That must really look like something."

He figured there wasn't anything to do but lie there and wait and keep tapping flashes, and hope enough air filtered into the mask to keep him alive. . .there wasn't anything to do but lie there and pray. . .God, send someone . . .someone. . .

In another part of Boston, out on Route 128, Jack's assistant, Tommy Whittaker, quit his work for the day. Whittaker and Jack had known each other for over 15 years and were close friends.

Tommy Whittaker did not know that Jack was on the Washington Street job. Whittaker got in his truck and started off down Route 128 with the full intention of driving directly home.

Had A Feeling

But as Whittaker drove, he began to have the feeling that something wasn't right.

He tried to shake the feeling off. He kept driving. The strange and inexplainable sensation grew. He thought that he ought to drive up to the Washington Street job and check it. He dismissed the idea. It meant driving six miles out of his way at the peak of the rush hour.

Suddenly he turned.

He did not try to explain it to himself. He just turned.

Stopped to Chat

Tommy Whittaker drove along Washington Street. The job was divided into two sections. He stopped his truck at a spot several blocks away from the cave-in, got out. He chatted with an engineer for the Metropolitan District Commission for 15 minutes. The time was 5:45 p.m.

Whittaker got into his truck, said goodbye to his friend, and started up again. He reached a stop light. It was his turn-off to get back to 128 by a short cut. If he stayed on Washington Street, he'd have to go still farther out of his way. Tommy Whittaker braked his truck for a brief instant, then continued on up Washington.

Whittaker arrived at the spot where his friend was dying. Nothing seemed unusual. He noticed the stake-body truck. But it was a truck that Sullivan never used.

Sees the Hand

Then Tommy Whittaker saw the hand. . .the hand moved.

"Oh, God!" he whispered.

Whittaker jumped down into the trench and began to dig. He uncovered a wrist watch. He thought he recognized the watch band. He kept digging, until he uncovered the man's side. He saw the man was still breathing; the respiration was very weak.

Then Tommy Whittaker recognized my brother. Jack had fainted. Whittaker dug more frantically.

A Powerful Word

Jack revived slightly when they put him on a stretcher. It was 6:30 p.m. He spied Tommy Whittaker. "Who found me?" he asked.

"I did," said Whittaker.

With his lips, Jack formed one word.

"Thanks."

There was no more powerful word than that.

The gnawing sensation that had been bothering Thomas Whittaker went away.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

TUNG NUT CROP

POPLARVILLE, Miss., March 15 (AP)—The secretary-treasurer of the American Tung Oil Assn. today estimated the nation's 1957 tung nut crop would be the third largest on record despite a 15 to 20 per cent reduction as a result of a March 7-8-9 freeze.

Roland R. Becke said he based his estimate upon personal observations and reports from growers.

Group Studies Progress Of Carroll High

An evaluative committee from the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges has notified the Monroe City School system of findings in a two-day inspection of Carroll High School. The visit and inspection was concluded earlier this week.

The committee was directed by L. L. Kilgore of the State Department of Education.

Carroll High was placed on the accredited list in December of last year. This week's visit was to study the progress since its accreditation.

Dr. Homer L. Hitt, head of the Institute of Population Research, predicts a U. S. population of 19 million persons 65 years of age and over by 1970.

Stocks End Week On Mixed Session

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP) — The stock market ended a sluggish week today with another irregular session.

The pick-up in demand for auto and drug issues late in the day put some of these stocks on the upside.

The latest news from the Israeli-Egyptian situation left investors in just as uncertain a state of mind as before, Wall Street observers said. News of cuts in the national budget brought some additional hesitation.

The usual caution of traders before a weekend was also reported in evidence today, especially in view of the international situation.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents to $173.70 with the industrials unchanged, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Surprisingly, there was a good margin of individual gainers over losers, the score being 462 to 354. But there were 15 new 1956-'57 lows as against 10 new highs.

Turnover for the day was down among the lowest of this year, totaling 1,600,000 shares compared with 1,580,000 yesterday.

Among the 15 most active stocks there were 9 gainers, 5 losers and one unchanged.

Corporate bonds were higher in moderate trading.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Atlantic Refining Company and Pancoastal Petroleum have completed their Cairo Well Number 1 in Venezuela with a daily total flow of 1,185 barrels an offset to the recently completed Sinclair Agusay No. 3.

Although a drop in military requirements will probably result in a decline in overall 1957 sales of Bell Helicopter Corp., Bell Subsidiary, earnings will not decline proportionately.

Mangel Stores, which operates 125 women's clothing stores, has opened five suburban department stores that feature self-service.

Federal Paper Board has entered into an agreement to acquire Frankenberg Brothers, folding carton manufacturer. This acquisition will add approximately $1,500,000 Federal's annual sales.

New York Central Railroad opened its new push button frontier freight yard in Buffalo, replacing eight outmoded facilities. Alfred E. Perlman, president, said it would cut Central's operating costs $4.5 million yearly.

Continental Air Lines asked the government to discontinue subsidies totaling $1 million yearly. Continental said it will be able to get along without federal help after it takes over its new Chicago-Los Angeles route April 28.

Copper — Shipments of refined copper to fabricators in this country dropped sharply last month. Producers stocks of the metal rose to the highest level in more than seven years.

Plans Made In L. Providence For Defenses

LAKE PROVIDENCE, March 15 (Special)—Mrs. George Forman, executive secretary of Civil Defense District F, met here with local leaders to formulate greater activity plans for the program.

The possibility of organizing a Civil Defense program for the inmates of the prison farm was the top subject of the meeting along with planned courses for instructors who in turn would instruct other groups in the necessity of emergency survival equipment and food kits.

Mrs. Nell Patrick, chairman of the civil defense program for the Powell - Martin - Barrett No. 37 legion auxiliary was in charge of the meeting. Others present were Dr. Carl A. Kelly, civil defense director for East Carroll; Mrs. A. S. Crump, executive secretary of the American Red Cross; Kiley Mangum, superintendent of the East Carroll prison farm.

Baxter Low Bidder On High School

St. JOSEPH, March 15 (Special)—A Sicily Island contractor Don A. Baxter, was awarded the bid to construct a new high school here for $310,335.

Other bids were: H. C. Peck Lumber and Supply Co., Sicily Island, $314,910; Jesse F. Heard and Son, West Monroe, $315,545; J. A. Harper, Crowville, $345,678; T. J. Owen, Winnsboro, $348,820; N. M. Merriweather, Winnsboro, $370,251 and M. T. Reed Construction Vo., Jackson, Miss., $391,600.

Plans Made In L. Providence For Defenses

LAKE PROVIDENCE, March 15 (Special)—Mrs. George Forman, executive secretary of Civil Defense District F, met here with local leaders to formulate greater activity plans for the program.

The possibility of organizing a Civil Defense program for the inmates of the prison farm was the top subject of the meeting along with planned courses for instructors who in turn would instruct other groups in the necessity of emergency survival equipment and food kits.

Mrs. Nell Patrick, chairman of the civil defense program for the Powell - Martin - Barrett No. 37 legion auxiliary was in charge of the meeting. Others present were Dr. Carl A. Kelly, civil defense director for East Carroll; Mrs. A. S. Crump, executive secretary of the American Red Cross; Kiley Mangum, superintendent of the East Carroll prison farm.

Negro Leaders Proclaim Drive To Get 'Full Voting Rights' In State

BATON ROUGE, March 15 (AP)—Negro leaders, proclaiming "we are going to need to be armed with the ballot in our fight for first class citizenship," today planned a statewide vote registration drive.

The 62 Negroes, mainly church leaders, from nine cities sent telegrams of "apology to the outstanding loyal American citizens whom the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation attempted to smear.

"The conference today felt that the committee struck a new low in its efforts to maintain segregation," a resolution said.

Rev. T. J. Jemison, pastor of the Baton Rouge Mt. Zion Baptist Church, said the group had formed the Southern Leadership Conference.

He said it will become affiliated with the Southern Leadership Conference headed by the Rev. Martin Luther King of Montgomery, Ala., leader of the Montgomery bus boycott.

Jemison and the Rev A. L. Davis, pastor of the New Zion Baptist Church in New Orleans, were elected co-chairmen of the new organization. Jemison is secretary of the Southern Leadership Conference and Davis vice president.

Rev. W. T. Handy Jr., pastor of the Newman Methodist Church at Alexandria, was named secretary.

Jemison said plans were not complete for the registration drive, but it would be a "door-to-door, parish-by-parish drive led by civic leaders in their respective communities.

"We will conduct voting schools in each area to teach our people how to register," he added. "The big cities will lead the way but we expect to go into every area."

"We plan to appeal to Gov. Earl Long to use his influence in four remaining parishes where not one single Negro has been permitted to register up until today," said Jemison.

He listed Madison, Tensas, West Feliciana and East Carroll parishes as not having any Negro registrants. All are parishes in the Mississippi River Delta.

Negro registration climbed from a low of 1,672 in 1944, when the Supreme Court outlawed the white primary, to a high of 161,410 last March before widespread challenging by White Citizens Council groups chopped it to 152,587 last October.

A federal grand jury has been probing the Citizens Council activities for several months, but has returned no indictments.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III cited the activities of Citizens Councils in 10 Louisiana parishes in testimony before a House judiciary subcommittee last month on proposed civil rights legislation.

Olney said FBI reports indicated 8,552 Negro voters had their registration challenged last fall and added that in a half dozen parishes registrars "did everything to discourage the filing of reply affadavits in the statutory form and generally refused them when they were offered."

Jemison said, however, there was no indication of a concerted effort to challenge Negro voters at present.

He said attorneys were checking a recent ruling by the Louisiana attorney general that the registrar has the option of choosing the section of the constitution to be interpreted rather than the persons seeking to register.

The registration drive would include legal aid to those challenged by the councils, Jemison said.

"We have no polans to back individual candidates," he added. "This is not a political organization, but we'll certainly try to see to it that the right kind of politicians find their way into our legislative chambers."

Jemison said final plans for the drive would be completed at another meeting here in about two weeks. He previously had estimated the drive would seek to register about 50,000 new Negro voters.

Louisiana has slightly over one million total registration. Negroes make up about 30 per cent of the total population but only about 15 per cent of the registration.

Jemison said the word "Negro" had been eliminated from the title of the group "because we plan to seek white members who believe in justice."

In a statement of belief, the group said:

"In contrast to the position of those who hold that the Negro church is an instrument or part of the agencies used by communism to cause racial unrest, the Negro church, in keeping with the highest and purest tradition of the Christian church, recognizes that freedom has a passionate appeal to the human mind which nothing else can equal, and that emancipation is the unending business of mankind.

"Our criticis must understand that if there be peace without justice, there can be neither peace nor justice."

The legislative hearings brought testimony from ex-communist witnesses that the Reds had sought since 1929 to infiltrate the Negro churches and also of alleged communist penetration of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

In a statement, the conference charged "a great disservice has been done to the people of Louisiana and the South in the recent hearings held in Baton Rouge on segregation in which two self admitted ex-Communists implied that all Negro leaders who work for the constitutional rights of the Negro are either communist or communist inspired.

"These two former subversives also implied that any organization working for the constitutional rights of Negroes is either Communist, Communist-inspired or a Communist-front organization.

"We are not unmindful of the grave threat which communism presents to our nation and our world but we are likewise not unmindful of the grave threat which facism presents to our nation and the world through the technique of smear, guilt by association and accusation which was the method employed in the recent hearings of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation."

Representatives attended the meeting from Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Lake Charles, Crowley, Alexandria, Plaquemine, Monroe, Minden and Shreveport.

Organizations represented included the New Orleans Interdenominational Federation of Churches, the Baton Rouge Christian Movement, the New Orleans Improvement Assn., the United Clubs Organization of New Orleans, the Better Citizens League of Minden, the Shreveport Baptist Ministerial Conference, Lake Charles Citizens League and the Ouachita Parish Voters League.

Southerners Criticized By Hodding Carter

LAFAYETTE, Mrch 15 (AP) — Mississippi editor Hodding Carter described the Southerner yesterday as regional minded, mistrustful of strangers, extremely sensitive to criticism and diverted by racism from greater concerns.

Carter, Pulitzer Prize winning editor of the Delta Democrat Times of Greenville, said the Reconstruction idea of political equality was negated by the governments that came after Reconstruction.

It takes a GIANT to step up electric power

It takes a giant transformer to step up electric power, and it takes a giant medium to step up sales power. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The amount of sales power you get out of an advertising medium depends on its coverage, availability, readership (or listenership or viewership), flexibility and believability.

Ingredients like these can transform an ad campaign into a profit for the retailer, wholesaler, distributor, or manufacturer. And newspapers have these ingredients in abundance.

With newspapers, you can reach just about every prospect for your merchandise. You can gear your advertising to the weather, to readers' special interests, to time, to place — to suit your own convenience. And best of all — newspapers are the action medium.

That's why all advertisers invested over $3,305,000,000* in newspapers last year — more than in TV, radio, magazines and outdoor combined.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers.

Negro Leaders Proclaim Drive To Get 'Full Voting Rights' In State

BATON ROUGE, March 15 (AP)—Negro leaders, proclaiming "we are going to need to be armed with the ballot in our fight for first class citizenship," today planned a statewide vote registration drive.

The 62 Negroes, mainly church leaders, from nine cities sent telegrams of "apology to the outstanding loyal American citizens whom the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation attempted to smear.

"The conference today felt that the committee struck a new low in its efforts to maintain segregation," a resolution said.

Rev. T. J. Jemison, pastor of the Baton Rouge Mt. Zion Baptist Church, said the group had formed the Southern Leadership Conference.

He said it will become affiliated with the Southern Leadership Conference headed by the Rev. Martin Luther King of Montgomery, Ala., leader of the Montgomery bus boycott.

Jemison and the Rev A. L. Davis, pastor of the New Zion Baptist Church in New Orleans, were elected co-chairmen of the new organization. Jemison is secretary of the Southern Leadership Conference and Davis vice president.

Both head groups pushing court action to end bus segregation in their cities.

Rev. W. T. Handy Jr., pastor of the Newman Methodist Church at Alexandria, was named secretary.

Jemison said plans were not complete for the registration drive, but it would be a "door-to-door, parish-by-parish drive led by civic leaders in their respective communities.

"We will conduct voting schools in each area to teach our people how to register," he added. "The big cities will lead the way but we expect to go into every area."

"We plan to appeal to Gov. Earl Long to use his influence in four remaining parishes where not one single Negro has been permitted to register up until today," said Jemison.

He listed Madison, Tensas, West Feliciana and East Carroll parishes as not having any Negro registrants. All are parishes in the Mississippi River Delta.

Negro registration climbed from a low of 1,672 in 1944, when the Supreme Court outlawed the white primary, to a high of 161,410 last March before widespread challenging by White Citizens Council groups chopped it to 152,587 last October.

A federal grand jury has been probing the Citizens Council activities for several months, but has returned no indictments.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III cited the activities of Citizens Councils in 10 Louisiana parishes in testimony before a House judiciary subcommittee last month on proposed civil rights legislation.

Olney said FBI reports indicated 8,552 Negro voters had their registration challenged last fall and added that in a half dozen parishes registrars "did everything to discourage the filing of reply affadavits in the statutory form and generally refused them when they were offered."

Jemison said, however, there was no indication of a concerted effort to challenge Negro voters at present.

He said attorneys were checking a recent ruling by the Louisiana attorney general that the registrar has the option of choosing the section of the constitution to be interpreted rather than the persons seeking to register.

The registration drive would include legal aid to those challenged by the councils, Jemison said.

"We have no polans to back individual candidates," he added. "This is not a political organization, but we'll certainly try to see to it that the right kind of politicians find their way into our legislative chambers."

Jemison said final plans for the drive would be completed at another meeting here in about two weeks. He previously had estimated the drive would seek to register about 50,000 new Negro voters.

Louisiana has slightly over one million total registration. Negroes make up about 30 per cent of the total population but only about 15 per cent of the registration.

Jemison said the word "Negro" had been eliminated from the title of the group "because we plan to seek white members who believe in justice."

In a statement of belief, the group said:

"In contrast to the position of those who hold that the Negro church is an instrument or part of the agencies used by communism to cause racial unrest, the Negro church, in keeping with the highest and purest tradition of the Christian church, recognizes that freedom has a passionate appeal to the human mind which nothing else can equal, and that emancipation is the unending business of mankind.

"Our criticis must understand that if there be peace without justice, there can be neither peace nor justice."

The conference pledged its efforts to win "first class citizenship for Negroes and others similarly situated by peaceful, nonviolent means."

The legislative hearings brought testimony from ex-communist witnesses that the Reds had sought since 1929 to infiltrate the Negro churches and also of alleged communist penetration of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

In a statement, the conference charged "a great disservice has been done to the people of Louisiana and the South in the recent hearings held in Baton Rouge on segregation in which two self admitted ex-Communists implied that all Negro leaders who work for the constitutional rights of the Negro are either communist or communist inspired.

"These two former subversives also implied that any organization working for the constitutional rights of Negroes is either Communist, Communist-inspired or a Communist-front organization.

"We are not unmindful of the grave threat which communism presents to our nation and our world but we are likewise not unmindful of the grave threat which facism presents to our nation and the world through the technique of smear, guilt by association and accusation which was the method employed in the recent hearings of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation."

Representatives attended the meeting from Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Lake Charles, Crowley, Alexandria, Plaquemine, Monroe, Minden and Shreveport.

Organizations represented included the New Orleans Interdenominational Federation of Churches, the Baton Rouge Christian Movement, the New Orleans Improvement Assn., the United Clubs Organization of New Orleans, the Better Citizens League of Minden, the Shreveport Baptist Ministerial Conference, Lake Charles Citizens League and the Ouachita Parish Voters League.

Southerners Criticized By Hodding Carter

LAFAYETTE, Mrch 15 (AP) — Mississippi editor Hodding Carter described the Southerner yesterday as regional minded, mistrustful of strangers, extremely sensitive to criticism and diverted by racism from greater concerns.

Carter's description came as he outlined the themes of his new book, "The Angry Scar," to a club luncheon here.

Carter, Pulitzer Prize winning editor of the Delta Democrat Times of Greenville, said the Reconstruction idea of political equality was negated by the governments that came after Reconstruction.

It takes a giant transformer to step up electric power, and it takes a giant medium to step up sales power. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The amount of sales power you get out of an advertising medium depends on its coverage, availability, readership (or listenership or viewership), flexibility and believability.

Ingredients like these can transform an ad campaign into a profit for the retailer, wholesaler, distributor, or manufacturer. And newspapers have these ingredients in abundance.

With newspapers, you can reach just about every prospect for your merchandise. You can gear your advertising to the weather, to readers' special interests, to time, to place — to suit your own convenience. And best of all — newspapers are the action medium.

That's why all advertisers invested over $3,305,000,000* in newspapers last year — more than in TV, radio, magazines and outdoor combined.

All business is local ... and so are all newspapers.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale lower to 20 cents higher today.

The pattern was much the same as on the previous day. Belief that old crop May futures faced substantial tenders of cotton induced traders to sell that delivery and nearby July to some extent. Against this selling, they purchased the cheaper new crop positions on the possibility of price improvement through crop restrictions. Gains in new crop months extended to 75 cents a bale, but most of the advance later was erased by profit taking and hedging. Trade buying absorbed most of the offerings in nearby May and July.

Agriculture Secretary Benson said that he will not change the current system of cut-rate sales of cotton for export before the end of the 1957-58 crop season, "If then." He added no decision has been reached as to minimum selling prices for export government cotton during the new season starting Aug. 1.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson stated there will be no change in the competitive bid sales program for export before end of the 1957-58 marketing season. Thus it appears that unless forced by legislation, the present program will be in effect until at least August 1, 1958. The secretary also stated they had not decided regarding minimum price that will be effective August 1st.

Futures closed mixed after new crop months had rallied about 50 cents per bale on commission house buying. Old May continued under pressure of liquidation and transfer declining 6 points. Clayton bought another 2,000 bales that month outright.

Unfixed call sales as of March 8 total 408,600 bales versus 977,-800 bales year ago. According to New York Cotton Exchange exports today 26,917 bring total 5,-640,172 versus 967,470 year ago.

Wool Letter

After a mixed opening the market steadied and then moved within a narrow range throughout the day in moderately active trading. Nichols brokers were good buyers of old March top most probably short covering while there was fairly heavy hedge selling in the distant top contracts some switching from March to July. A few internationals and a few stops by orders were other features today. The market closed near the days best about one half cent higher on balance. There were no notices issued in either market today. It was reliably reported that a clip of western wool totalling 400,000 pounds was sold yesterday at a little over 58 cents per pound grease basis to a prominent Boston top maker. Further there has been active buying in the Roswell New Mexico area.

London top futures were relatively quiet today and closed barely steady slightly lower on balance. Cable advices state that the Sydney wool brokers expect prices to be firmer next week when approximately 72,000 bales will be offered. However, the brokers at Melbourne state that they expect an easier market in Melbourne next week when approximately 65,000 bales will be put on the selling block 60 per cent of which will be crossbred wools.
